FOREWORD

IN preparing this, the ninth volume of the PHIPST-CLT, we have been impressed with a great sense of responsibility as to what a college annual should truly mean. We have desired to preserve, through picture and print, an accurate record of the events of the college year, blending in as much as possible of the romance, the beauty and the richness that crowns the experiences of college life. We realize that such a record as this, at its best, is only a bare outline of the experiences which can live in their truest significance only in the hearts and minds of those who have experienced them. Yet, we have striven on to its completion with the hope that in future years, when the memory of college days grows dim, when the busy world has called you away from the golden days of youth or the tottering form of age clouds and obstructs your vision of the past, that you might take this dust-covered volume from your shelf and find therein some item to stimulate your memory and recall to your mind some happy moment of glorious Elon life. Should this volume revive even one such treasured memory, then shall we feel that our labor has been of some worth, after all.

IN MEMORIAM

DR. FRANK SAMUEL CHILD

1854-1922

Dr. Child was for thirty years intimately connected with the growth and development of Elon College. His lectures here on Literature and History were masterpieces of the interpretation of the events and ideals that have stirred men to action in every age. He was a rarely felicitous wielder of our mother tongue and a most forceful public speaker.

He was pastor for forty years of the Congregational Church, Fairfield, Conn. Though never a strong man physically, he found time to lecture to colleges, serve on boards of trustees of various institutions and write several great books. Among these we note "An Old New England Town," "The Colonial Parson of New England," "A Colonial Witch," "A Puritan Wooing," "The House With Sixty Closets," and others.

A manuscript, "The Friendships of Life," a biography of the author in terms of persons he had met in all parts of the world, will soon be published. It will be a fitting monument to a monumental life.

In the passing of Dr. Child, Elon has lost a great friend!

The Administration Building

After standing for thirty-four years on the Elon campus, the Administration Building was attacked by flames; its walls were laid waste and its tower reduced to a hollow shell. It was the first building on the campus, and around it for years have revolved the various interests of college life. It was the nucleus out of which has evolved the splendid institution we know today as Elon. Her life history is essentially one of human interest. Having been conceived in the minds of men devoid of other resources than the determination to place within their children's reach the means of preparation for the complexities of life; having been born of prayer and sacrifice, with tears of joy and songs of praise to gladden the hearts of those whose labors gave her birth; having in infancy been nurtured with constant care, and guided through the perilous days of youth with tender solicitude, Elon has long since laid away her swaddling clothes and stands forth in her full strength and stature. While it is fitting that we pause to mourn the loss of this fine old building, it is more fitting that we turn our eyes toward the future, with the realization of what, through our efforts, our college may become.

The Administration Building had lived out its days of usefulness. Through its being, it has made possible the greater Elon, which, with progress for its watchword, has broken the bonds of limitation and reaches out to larger and better things; saying in the words of the poet:

"Build thee more stately mansions, O my soul,
As the swift seasons roll!
Leave thy low-vaulted past!
Let each new temple, nobler than the last,
Shut thee from heaven with a dome more vast,
Till thou at length art free,
Leaving thine outgrown shell by life's unresting sea!"

The Classes

*And the smoke rose slowly, slowly
Through the tranquil air of morning,
First a single line of darkness
Then a denser bluer vapor,
Then a snow-white cloud unfolding,
Like the tree-tops of the forest,
Ever rising, rising, rising,
Till it touched the top of heaven.*

LONGFELLOW: HIAWATHA

Senior Class History

SEPTEMBER 9, 1919, there arrived on the Hill a class which, upon its departure four years later, was to leave behind a record which would be unsurpassed by any previous class. We were one hundred and thirty-two strong. Early in our freshman year we organized, elected T. G. Henderson president, and adopted as our motto, "Build for character, not fame." This motto has been a predominating idea of every member of our class throughout our four years of college life.

In our class there were many states and one territory represented. Ordinarily a freshman class is regarded as being very, very green and we were as green as the most succulent cow feed, no doubt; however, we lay no claims to exclusiveness in this particular. Among our ranks were found a number of older heads who had not been able to enter college earlier on account of service overseas. These men, who had passed through the great holocaust, and had served in either the army or the navy of Uncle Sam, were found by the sophomores, much to their surprise, not so easily handled as freshmen usually are. Even yet we look back with pride upon the days when we led the Sophs a merry chase. We interested them all the way from the top of the tank to the scales in front of "Uncle Mike's."

We returned in our sophomore year under the leadership of G. A. Brown. Remembering the outrages perpetrated on us in our freshman year, we proceeded to secure revenge in a most fitting manner. It was in that year that we gave expression to our artistic talent by endeavoring to keep a '23 on the tank.

In our junior year, W. E. Marlette was chosen as our worthy leader. That year we returned with the same determined loyalty to our class, but with less of the fiery class spirit that had been characteristic of previous years.

This year we became dignified seniors. The masculine members of our august and dignified organization, desiring to give expression indicative of our proper rank and station, have adopted derbies and canes as fitting ornaments of seniority. We have, as our leader, E. C. White, who is proving competent in every way. Realizing our responsibility more than ever before, we have settled down to make a record worthy of emulation by the classes that are to follow us.

This year we have been called upon to bear our part of the deepest sorrow that has ever befallen our beloved institution. On the morning of January the 18th, we stood silent and grief-stricken, watching the sacred walls of our old administration building crumble amid the flames. A few hours later we met, our heads bowed with sorrow, and pledged ourselves to bear our part of the hardships which we knew would follow, and our undying allegiance to our college in the time of its greatest need.

Phippsirli, 1923

We have, in athletics, played an important role. We have contributed largely to the varsity teams. During our senior year the captains of the three major sports have been picked from our ranks. We won the class championship in baseball and basketball for three years, and, had class football existed, we have reasonable assurance to believe that our scarred and seasoned football veterans of many intercollegiate contests would have brought home the victory in these class contests. It was at the time of our first basketball victory that the upper classmen became so enraged at us that they locked us out of the alumni building, thereby holding us from a night of peaceful slumber. All of the varsity teams have been largely dependent on the athletes of '23 for success.

Not only have we been leaders in athletics, but in the literary arts as well. Eleven members of our class have been chosen to represent Elon in intercollegiate debates. Our class has been well represented on the staffs of the college publications. The indomitable fighting spirit of the class has been in everything that we have undertaken to do.

The Class of '23 is the largest ever to leave Elon. We have had very few to leave our ranks for other classes, while several have displayed rare judgment by coming to us from other classes. We have had three to enter the field of matrimony, with the prospects of several more immediately after commencement.

No other class of all the historic classes that have gone before us has had quite so varied an experience as has been ours. We will have been the only class ever to graduate here without the administration building. We have been anticipating the time when we could get our diplomas within the sacred walls of this old building. We have cherished the idea until the fatal day of January 18th, when the building was destroyed by flames. Although this honor will have to be conferred in some place without so many hallowed traditions, yet the memory of those treasured halls where we have spent so many pleasant and valuable hours, will go with us always.

We look with pride upon our accomplishments and feel that our class has made an enviable record for itself.

The joy of achievement is tinged with genuine regret when we realize that we are leaving Elon, not to return next fall. Our stay here has enriched our lives with friendships as true and as rare as the golden age of man's life could desire. Our motto has been engraved on our hearts and every member is striving to live by it. Serious work and earnest toil have been interwoven with joyous friendship in such a way as to make it impossible to leave without regret. We have striven to live such a life that people may see in us a lofty and noble sense of honor, a spirit of friendliness toward men and a spirit that is characteristic of old Elon.

And now, dear classmates, we have come to the culmination of our endeavors as college students and are ready to give our best to the service of humanity. The past is behind us. May we look for bigger and better things in the future. If this history, in the years to come, may serve to be a pleasant reminder of the days that we spent together and cause sweet memories to be brought to mind, then it will not have been written in vain.

CLASS HISTORIAN.

Builders

Laughing in childhood's joyful glee,
Happy and glad, innocent, free,
Then we begin the temple, great—
The temple—life, building our fate.

Childhood changed into golden youth,
Joyful yet but searching for truth;
Then this ideal became our aim,
"Build for character, nor for fame!"

Through the four years of school life gay,
True to this aim we've been each day;
Through all the work the lovely light
Out of the dark shone pure and bright!

So in the end when the building's wrought,
Lost or won are the battles fought,
Thoughts then will turn, Elon, to thee,
And to the Class of '23.

"Tommy may be regarded as a self-made man. Without the guiding and encouraging influence of parent- he has fought his way through college and won for himself a place in the hearts of all his schoolmates. He is liked by all who know him. As an athlete his record is rarely excelled and unique. He played varsity baseball in 1921 and has the distinction of never stealing a base—he never reached first. Yet he has contributed to the success of his class in many departments. "Tommy" is a lover of nature and dogs. In winter he may be seen frequently with his trusty gun on his shoulder and his beloved dogs, Lou, Music and Rattler, following closely at his heels.

Bray came to us in our second year. He at once won for himself a place in the heart of the Institution's activities. He has distinguished himself as a journalist, has proved to be a good student and an orator of no mean ability. His association with "Maroon and Gold" has aided greatly in placing our college paper in the position it now holds.

It is reported that Elon, being a co-educational institution, was a great factor in bringing Bray to us. We are expecting Cupid to turn in a report on the gentleman's social activities in the near future.

Elise is one of our day students who joined us this year, and she has been an invaluable asset to our class. Take her either as a friend or as a student and you will find her loyal to her trust. What she undertakes is done precisely on the dot and in a commendable way. Elise is one lady of our class who knows the way to a man's heart. Dame Rumor whispers of matrimony. We wonder how soon it will be?

Mrs. Cannon is one of the few "big" members of our class. She possesses great dramatic ability, especially in mother-in-law roles and the use of the roll'n pin. Her evident talents and ability need only be mentioned. She is especially gifted in many different lines, which, combined with her never-failing energy and willingness, make her an indispensable citizen of our college community. She has been a worthy contributor to all class and college activities. She is a good student and a friend to everyone. Mrs. Cannon is one whom we cannot help but admire.

BACHELOR OF PHILOSOPHY

"Women shall not rule while I live"

Phi-cheta; Phi-cheta Entertainment, '22; Maroon and Gold Staff, '22; Advertising Manager Psi-cheta, '22.

John came to us from the class of '22. He is a fellow who moves on serene and undisturbed among the turbulent college activities. John's favorite form of athletics is tackling Kipling and Omar Khayyam, who are his favorites. His favorite study is History and as a student of this subject he is equalled by few and excelled by none. Ere many years have passed we expect to see John decorating the chair of Professor of History in Elon.

"Pats," the true blue girl, came to us from the Class of '22 and, with her coming, the Class of '23 gained a member worth having. Never was a girl loved more than "Pats" and never did a girl deserve more. She always wears a cheery smile and it does one good to meet her. Here's to you old sport, friend, classmate and pal, a long merry life full of the happiness such as you give to others.

Grady has made a good record in our many college activities, but especially has he distinguished himself as an athlete. On the football field he was always as good as the best and would block anything from a two-hundred-pound opponent to a Ford gas buggy. As a homerun slugger on the diamond—well, he believes in parking them a country mile. He's the kind of fellow who would have the Elon spirit in everything—a wholesome lad with plenty of time to be courteous to everyone. Grady, old timer, '23 wishes you god-speed wherever you may go.

"Crutch" is not so bad as her pet name among her numerous friends implies. Success is sure to overtake Bertha as she travels down the winding, rocky road of life, for she has all the qualities of a real girl, straight-forward, industrious and conscientious at all times. She is one of the most loyal '23's, and that loyalty has not wavered for four years. When you want anything done and done well, call on "Crutch."

"Hon. John," one of seven of his tribe to imbibe knowledge at Elon. You have to know him well to like him. He is violent in his likes and dislikes, a hard worker, loyal to his friends, having mixed in him the sturdy qualities which proclaim him a worthy son of his native Virginia soil. Science and Mathematics are subjects in which he excelled, as many, whose problems he solved, can testify. His violin, College annuals, tobacco raising, and home-brew are some of his hobbies. Many there are who love him.

MINNIE LAURA EDGE Buffalo, Ala.

BACHELOR OF ARTS

"For if she will, she will and you may depend on it, and if she won't she won't and there's an end on it."

Philologist, Class Debater, '20; Class Historian, '21; Y. W. C. A. Cabinet, '20, '21; Vice-President Religious Activities Organization, '22; Society Essayist Commencement, '22; Psiheliaan Entertainment, '23; Tau Zeta Phi; Certificate in Chemistry.

Minnie has the enviable record of being a scholar as her 90's and 95's well testify. She is frank, determined and strong willed. Her ability to argue has been proven on more than one occasion and we tremble for her opponents should she decide to enter the political arena. As College Librarian, she has proved herself alert, efficient and business-like. Finally, this lady from the sunny Southland stands for all that is noblest and best in womanhood.

JOHN MCGHEE FIX Burlington, N. C.

BACHELOR OF ARTS

"But friendship, not fame, is the countersign here."

Philologist, Class Baseball, '20, '21, '22, '23; Class Track, '20, '21, '23; Class Basketball, '20, '21, '22, '23; Varsity Football, '21, '22, '23; Varsity Basketball, '21, '22, '23; Captain Varsity Basketball, '23; Historian of Senior Class, '23; E. Aker's Club, '21, '22, '23; Burlington Club; Iota Tau Kappa.

"You fix 'em, Ghee!" has been the battle cry on many occasions when the battle waxed hot and he seldom failed for Ghee is a real fighter in the game. As an athlete, he has proved himself a loyal and worthy supporter of the Maroon and Gold Banner. To Ghee the Class of '23, too, owes honors, for he has helped to gain many a victory for the class. He is known to always look on the bright side of any question and in whatever position you find him you may know that he is always cheerfully giving his best to his class or his friends.

Senior Class

ROY S. HELMS Monroe, N. C.

BACHELOR OF ARTS

"Born for success, he seemed with grace to win, with heart to hold, with shining gifts that took all eyes."

Ohio Intercollegiate Debaters' Club; President S. S. Teachers' Training Class, '20, '21; Class Track Team, '21, '22, '23; Class Baseball, '21, '22; Class Basketball, '20, '21, '22; President S. S. Class, '22, '23; Gymnastic Exhibition, '22; The roles of Deacon Dodge in "Borrowers' Bay," '22; Day-Monihan in "Over Here," '23; John's in "For the Love of Johnny," '22; Bassanio in Shakespeare's "Merchant of Venice," '21; Ohio Improvement Medal, '21; Ohio Representative Medal, '22; Ohio Oratory Medal, '22; Freshman-Sophomore Debate, '21; Elon-Guilford Debate, '22; Elon-Emory and Henry Debate, '23; Elon-Lenoir Debate, '23; Glee Club, '20

"Sylvester" is the silver-tongued orator of the class and "precious jewels of the most ornate diction flow from his lips as the raindrops from the heavens." Adding to this valuable gift, habits of studiousness and efficiency, Roy has succeeded eminently as a speaker and student. He has to his credit since he has been in college, three orators' medals and, with his colleagues, as many debates and more. He has won the admiration and affection of his fellow students.

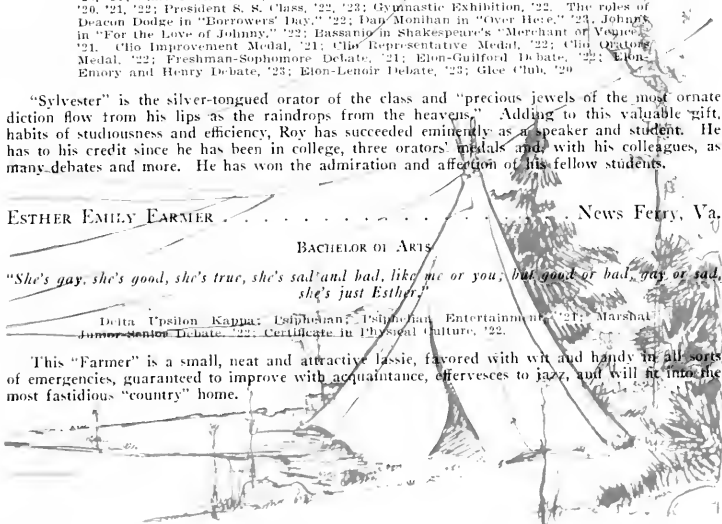

ESTHER EMILY FARNER News Ferry, Va.

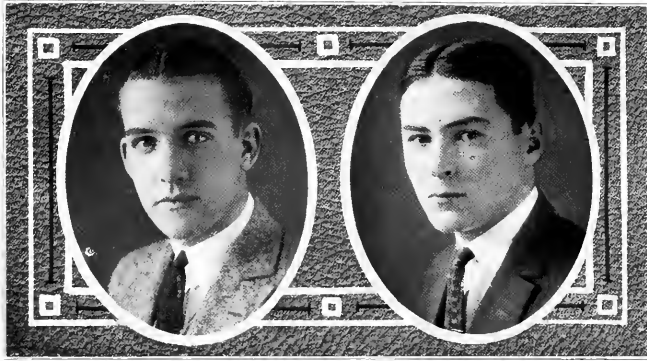

BACHELOR OF ARTS

"She's gay, she's good, she's true, she's sad and bad, like me or you, but good or bad, gay or sad, she's just Esther."

Delta Upsilon Kappa; Upsilon Psi; Psi Chi; Entertainment, '21; Marshal Junior-Senior Debate, '22; Certificate in Physical Culture, '22.

This "Farner" is a small, neat and attractive lassie, favored with wit and handy in all sorts of emergencies, guaranteed to improve with acquaintance, effervesces to jazz, and will fit into the most fastidious "country" home.

Senior Class

PRENTICE PHLEIGER HATLEY Spencer, N. C.

BACHELOR OF ARTS

"None but himself can be his parallel!"

Philologist; Philologist Entertainment, '21, '22, '23; Glee Club, '21, '22, '23;
College Orchestra, '20, '21, '22, '23; College Band, '21; Class Baseball, '22, '23;
Class Basketball, '22, '23; Iota Tau Kappa.

"P. P." is an easy going chap, never worries, a shark at the fiddle and a wizard when it comes to spotting and spoofing the professors. He has a great affinity for the members of the fair sex, and we look forward to the time when he succumbs to their charms. With his God-sent gift—his wonderful musical talent—he has played himself into the hearts of all his classmates.

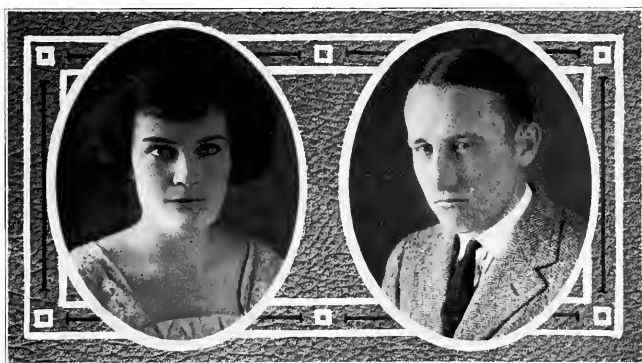

LANCE WOOD JENNINGS Gibsonville, N. C.

BACHELOR OF ARTS

"If worry were the only cause of death, then would he live forever."

Orator; Gymnasium Exhibition, '17; Class Baseball, '20; Class Basketball, '22;
Commencement Marshal, '22.

"Lance" is the baby of our class—not in statue, but in years. He is a day student coming from the nearby town of Gibsonville. He is often to be seen working hard in Prof. Powell's laboratory and we wonder if he will not some day become a famous scientist in the field of "bugology." He has taken an active part in the different phases of college life since he came to us, a boy in knee-trousers.

Senior Class

IRENE GOFF Falcon, N. C.

BACHELOR OF ARTS

"Good-natured and generous, jolly and clever, her tongue, like a brooklet, goes on forever."

Delta Upsilon Kappa; Psi-Phi-Ian; Cantata, '20, '21, '22, '23; College Choir, '21, '22, '23; Class Debater, '22; Student Council, '22; Psi-Phi-Ian Entertainment, '22, '23; Secretary Sunday School Class, '21; Draughtsman of Will, '22; Intercollegiate Debater, '23; President of Girls' Athletic Association, '23; Basketball Sponsor, '22; Certificate in Chemistry, '23; Psi-Phi-Ian Entertainment, '23.

Debaters like "Goff" are born, not made. When she is not in the ring, you can depend on it, she is close to the side ropes and you can always tell whose side she is on. "Goff" has always been one of the most enthusiastic boosters in the class. She has the vim to make things go. She is a steady and consistent worker, full of fun and ever loyal to her cause, it matters not what that cause may be.

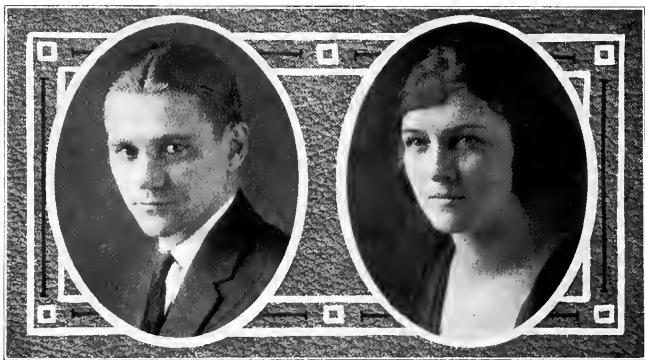

WADE ELMER MARLETTE Saxapahaw, N. C.

BACHELOR OF ARTS

"The glory of young men is their strength; and the beauty of old men is the gray head."

Sigma Phi Beta; Philologist; Varsity Baseball, '19, '20, '21, '22, '23; Varsity Football, '20, '21; Varsity Track, '20, '21, '22, '23; Captain Baseball, '22; Y. M. C. A. Treasurer, '21; Philologist Entertainment, '21, '22; Varsity Cross Country Team, '20, '21; Captain Cross Country Team, '21; Class President, '22; Varsity Basketball, '22, '23; Philologist Commencement Orator, '22; Athletic Editor Philologist, '23.

Here he is, ladies! One of Elon's most famous speed kings! Look him over! He runs the mile and the cross country in zero flat. He's a natural born artist with the baseball glove, plays football and basketball like a demon, passes off all his work, takes an active part in his society and fraternity, supports his class to the last ditch, and then has time to spare for a few social rounds with members of the adjacent sex. More than that, Wade is a friend in time of need, fair and square, and every inch a gentleman.

Senior Class

ROBERT VAN MORRIS Denton, N. C.

BACHELOR OF ARTS

"Friendly, modest, clean-lived and sincere, the rest of him is hard work."

Sigma Phi Beta; Philologist; Marshal Philologist Entertainment, '20; Chief Marshal Junior-Senior Debate, '22; Vice-President Senior Class, '23; Chapel Monitor, '23.

"Stick-to-it-ive-ness" is an essential element in success; this being so "Cam" has before him a great future. This man never wears a mask in character nor personality. He is a man of few words, but "still waters run deep," and his friends know that there is more to him than he would show. Some say that "Cam" seldom socializes, but when he does—Say, Ruby, isn't he a swell dresser for the occasion?

MARGARET EDNA HOMEWOOD Burlington, N. C.

BACHELOR OF ARTS

"A daughter of the gods, divinely tall and most divinely fair."

Sigma Phi Beta; Y. W. C. A.; Marshal Psi-Phi-Ian Entertainment, '22; Certificate in Physical Culture, '22; President of Ladies' Hall, '23; Vice-President of Student Council, '23.

Margaret is the kind of girl that every one delights to meet. Athletic? Well, she's right there with basketball, tennis, swimming or any other that you might mention. Bubbling over with energy and enthusiasm, combining work and play, finding the joy in life always, she is a good blues chaser. Here's to a glorious future—maybe some day Elon will need her to coach the intercollegiate girls' tennis and basketball games.

Senior Class

LOIS MAIE HOLLAND Holland, Va.

"Not too serious, not too gay, but altogether a jolly good girl."

Delta Upsilon Kappa; Psi-Phi-Ian; Cantata, '20, '21, '22, '23; Class Marshal Freshman-Sophomore Debate, '21; Psi-Phi-Ian Entertainment, '20, '21; Certificate in Physical Culture, '22; Certificate in Voice, '23; Dramatic Club, '21, '22; Sponsor Baseball, '23.

We have all types of people in the class of '23. There are a few wise ones, some serious ones, others carefree and happy-go-lucky. To the latter class Lois undoubtedly belongs. Yes, this is Lois, the girl who is always rushing to her destination because she is always late. To her friends, as to her class, she is ever loyal and true. She is sympathetic and tolerant, always ready to rejoice with those who do rejoice, yet a very present help in time of trouble. Her daily cry is: "Ye gods end this college life and make two lovers happy."

LINDSAY J. PERRY Wingate, N. C.

BACHELOR OF ARTS

*"A jewel in a ten-times-barr'd-up chest,
Is a bold spirit in a loyal breast."*

Sigma Phi Beta; Philologist; Vice-President Class, '20; Class Basketball, '20, '21, '22, '23; Class Baseball, '20, '21, '22, '23; Varsity Football, '20, '21, '22, '23; Varsity Basketball, '20, '21, '22, '23; Varsity Baseball, '20, '21, '22, '23; Class Historian, '20; Y. A.; Captain Football, '21; Philologist Entertainment, '21; Captain Basketball, '22; Representative Junior-Senior Debate, '22; Captain Football, '23; Intercollegiate Debater, '23; Philologist Entertainment, '23.

"Happy" is one of those all 'round good fellows that you know is your friend. He is an athlete who works hard for the best interests of his team. He has made the varsity team in football, baseball and basketball from his freshman year. It is rumored that he can also play tennis. Clear, consistent "headwork" more than brilliant playing has marked his athletic career. However, he is not an athlete only for he has figured in numerous debates and oratorical contests. "Happy's" greatest pride is looking good in his athletic togs—the girls say he does.

Senior Class

MARY NELLE HOLLAND Holland, Va.

BACHELOR OF PHILOSOPHY

"Long may we search before we find a heart so gentle and so kind."

Delta Upsilon Kappa; Psihellen; Class Secretary, '21; Marshal Junior-Senior Debate, '22; Student Council, '22; Psihellen Entertainment, '21, '22; Class Prophet, '23; Secretary of the S. S. Class, '20, '21; Ophelia Dramatic Club, '22; Cantata, '20, '21, '22, '23; Phippsell Staff, '23.

"She glides into our darker musings with a mild and healing sympathy that steals away its sharpness ere we are aware." That's Mary Nelle all over, with her cheerful, sunny disposition and her ever-present good humor. Studying education is Mary Nelle's favorite amusement and serving on committees one of her chief occupations, the latter because she has the knack of "doing things right." The class could not have done very well without you, Mary Nelle, Ole Dear.

MARKWOOD ZIRKLE RHODES Dayton, Va.

BACHELOR OF ARTS

"Happy as a lark, sublime in his heart, smiling from the start, he won the music teacher's heart."

Kappa Psi Nu; Oho; Oho Entertainment, '21, '22, '23; President Christian Endeavor, '23; Sophomore Class Debater, '22; President Religious Activities Organization, '21; Maroon and Gold Staff, '23; Associate Editor Phippsell, '23; Director College Band, '21, '22, '23; College Orchestra, '21, '22, '23; Glee Club, '21; Music Lovers' Club, '21; George Club, '22, '23.

Behold! "George" Markwood Zirkle "Zachariah" Rhodes, veteran of the World War, graduate of Shenandoah Collegiate Institute, formerly a member of the Class of '24, but now one of '23's faithful and most valuable sons. "George" is a ten-talent man and he uses them all vigorously, effectively and wisely. He is especially gifted in the art of making music and, 'tis said, in making love, too. At any rate he is a lover of music, of musicians and of a musician. He is a constant friend, a capable and diligent student, and a Christian gentleman.

Senior Class

MILDRED LOUISE KIRKLAND Elon College, N. C.

BACHELOR OF MUSIC

*"There be none of Beauty's daughters with a magic like thee,
And like music on the waters is thy sweet voice to '23."*

Psiphelian; Certificate in Piano, '20; Diploma in Piano, '21; Glee Club Accompanist, '21; Lyceum Marshal, '21, '22; Music Lovers' Club, '21, '22, '23; College Orchestra, '23; Cantata, '20, '21, '22; Honorary Member Glee Literary Society, '23; Glee Entertainment, '23; Tau Theta.

Long after we have forgotten the worries and troubles of school, Mildred's characteristic smile will live in our memory. Many times her musical ability has helped the Class of '23 uphold their side of the college activities and never does she fail to do her part in any emergency. Judging the future by the past, we predict for her a true success and wish for her the greatest happiness.

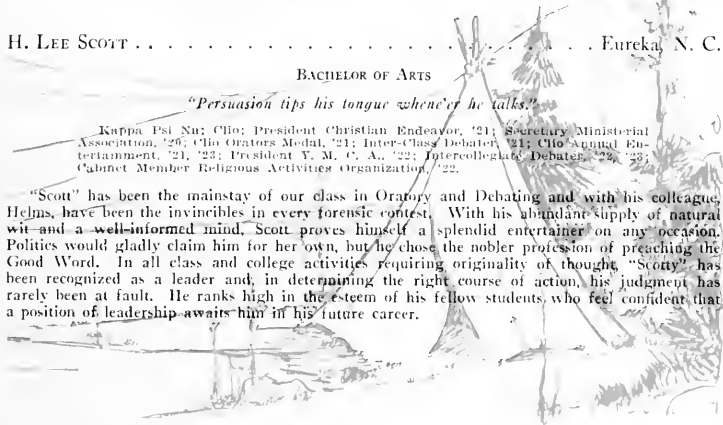

H. LEE SCOTT Eureka, N. C.

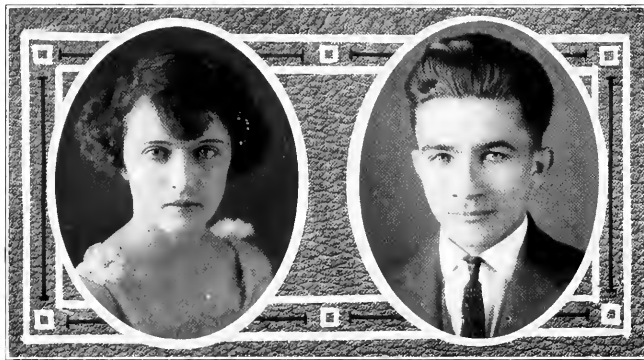

BACHELOR OF ARTS

"Persuasion tips his tongue whenever he talks."

Kappa Psi Nu; Glee; President Christian Endeavor, '21; Secretary Ministerial Association, '20; Glee Orators Medal, '21; Inter-Class Debater, '21; Glee Annual Entertainment, '21, '23; President Y. M. C. A., '22; Interscholastic Debates, '22, '23; Cabinet Member Religious Activities Organization, '22.

"Scott" has been the mainstay of our class in Oratory and Debating and with his colleague Helms, have been the invincibles in every forensic contest. With his abundant supply of natural wit and a well-informed mind, Scott proves himself a splendid entertainer on any occasion. Politics would gladly claim him for her own, but he chose the nobler profession of preaching the Good Word. In all class and college activities requiring originality of thought, "Scott" has been recognized as a leader and, in determining the right course of action, his judgment has rarely been at fault. He ranks high in the esteem of his fellow students, who feel confident that a position of leadership awaits him in his future career.

Senior Class

MARGARET MORING Durham, N. C.

BACHELOR OF ARTS

*"Rare compound of quality, noble and true,
With plenty of sense and good humor, too."*

Delta Upsilon Kappa; Psihelia; Psihelian Entertainment, '20, '22; Corresponding Secretary Class, '21; Class Debater, '21; Class Secretary, '22; Secretary Junior-Senior Debate, '22; Maroon and Gold Staff, '22; Psihelia Dramatic Club, '22; Art Editor Psiheli, '23; Chapel Monitor, '23.

Margaret is a delightful combination of fun and seriousness, admired by those who have noticed the efficiency which has characterized her leadership in many undertakings during her college years and by those who have tested her and found her fair and square. To a few who know her more intimately, "Conscience" is the truest friend, most dreadful tease and the most daring of cut-ups.

VICTOR MANUEL RIVERA Ponce, Porto Rica

"Greatness lies not in being strong, but in the using of strength."

Phi Chi Ministerial Association; Vice-President Student Volunteer, '21, '22; Class Chaplain, '21, '22; Treasurer Student Volunteer Club, '21; College Band, '21, '22, '23; Altarance Club, '23.

"Rivers" came to Elon from Ponce, Porto Rica, in the summer of 1919. He brought with him not an athlete's physique, but a bright and happy smile, an alert mind, a definite goal, and a determination to reach that goal. He still wears the bright and happy smile, and he has not turned back from his goal. When he returns to his native land to teach and do missionary work among his people, the affection and good wishes of his classmates and many friends will go with him. Our class would have been indeed incomplete without our Spanish "Prof."

"If she be there, there be happiness."

Ψsophian; Class Representative to Student Council, '22; Secretary Student Council, '23; Y. W. C. A. Cabinet, '22; Ψsophian Entertainment, '23.

"Peg-O'-My-Heart" we call her. Peggy is always jolly and happy and ready to help out in everything. She is lucky, too, for in the numerous automobile accidents she has participated in, she has been fortunate enough to escape uninjured. Whether it be bluffing or studying, she gets through her courses just the same. 'Tis said that it takes all kinds of people to make a world. We know that if there were more of "Peggy's" kind, the world would be happier and better.

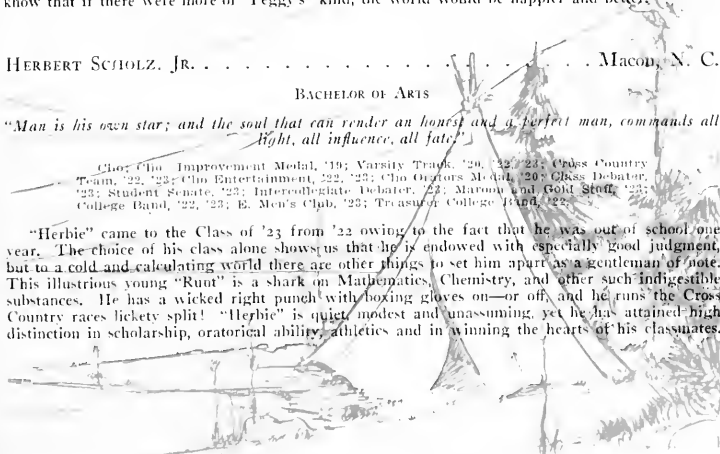

HERBERT SCHOLZ, JR. Macon, N. C.

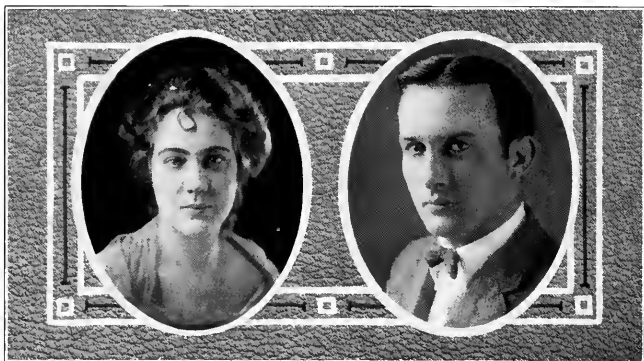

BACHELOR OF ARTS

"Man is his own star; and the soul that can render an hour's aid a perfect man, commands all light, all influence, all fate."

Cho; Cho Improvement Medal, '19; Varsity Track, '20, '22, '23; Order Country Team, '22, '23; Cho Entertainment, '22, '23; Cho Order's Medal, '20; Class Debater, '23; Student Senate, '23; Intercollegiate Debater, '23; Maroon and Gold Staff, '23; College Band, '22, '23; E. Men's Club, '23; Treasurer College Band, '23.

"Herbie" came to the Class of '23 from '22 owing to the fact that he was out of school one year. The choice of his class alone shows us that he is endowed with especially good judgment, but to a cold and calculating world there are other things to set him apart as a gentleman of note. This illustrious young "Runt" is a shark on Mathematics, Chemistry, and other such indigestible substances. He has a wicked right punch with boxing gloves on—or off, and he runs the Cross Country races lickety split! "Herbie" is quiet, modest and unassuming, yet he has attained high distinction in scholarship, oratorical ability, athletics and in winning the hearts of his classmates.

Senior Class

GRACE MCELROY RAINEY Gordonsville, Va.

BACHELOR OF ARTS

"What she wills to do or say seems wisest, virtuest, discreetest, best."

Phieta; Y. W. C. A.; Honorary Member of Ohio Literary Society; Phieta Commencement Essayist, '22; Class Debater, '23; Ohio Annual Entertainment, '22, '23; Secretary-Treasurer Students-Teachers Association; Secretary Interscholastic Debaters Club, '23; Humorous Editor Phippsich, '23.

Our only regret is that Mrs. Rainey was not with us in our freshman year. Though she chose her life companion before coming to college yet, even in making that choice, she linked herself to one of Elon's loyal sons in the person of "Socrates" Rainey, the bald-headed humorist and philosopher. Mrs. Rainey has ever been loyal to '23. She has proved that she has great ability, not only as a student, but as a debater and essayist as well. In wit she is scarcely excelled by her most witty husband and for that reason she was chosen Humorous Editor of the Phippsich.

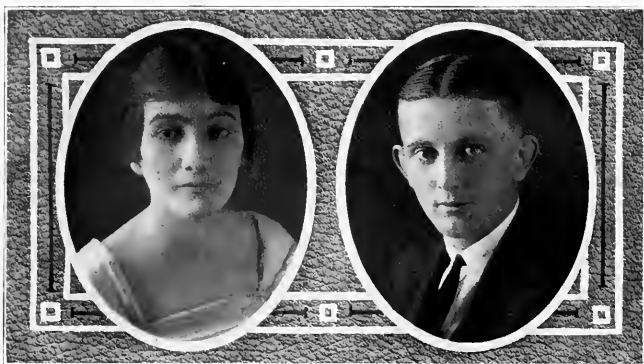

WILLIAM GARLAND STONER Greensboro, N. C.

BACHELOR OF ARTS

"He who thinks the most good and speaks the least ill of his neighbors—the man we love."

Sigma Phi Beta; Philologist; Varsity Baseball, '20, '21, '22; Varsity Football, '20, '21, '22; Class Baseball, '20, '21, '22; Captain Class Baseball, '20; Class Basketball, '21; Men's Club, '20, '21, '22, '23; Class Treasurer, '21; Marshal Freshman-Sophomore Debate, '21; Philologist Entertainment, '20, '21, '22; Student Senate, '22; Philologist Commencement Representative, '22; President E. Men's Club, '22; Chief Marshal Emory and Henry Debate, '22; Mason and Gold Staff, '22; President Student Senate, '23.

"Bill," after he had helped to win the victories of Uncle Sam in France, joined the fighting Class of '23 and won his part of the victories for Elon and for his class. He is an all 'round athlete and student, a splendid pal and a successful President of the Student Senate.

Lucky for the Class of '23 that '24 should give her a girl of lofty thought and sincere nature. Mary has the heart and mind that makes girls like her hard to find. When we wish anything poetic said of us we go to Mary. She knows the value of good books and is never found wasting her time on her good looks. She shares her joys and her smiles. Mary, the Class of '23 is proud of you.

Men's Club, '21, '22, '23; Church Usher, '23.

Here is a typical son of Elon. A real man who does things on the square with everyone. "Woodie" is an athlete and has won honors with both class and varsity teams. He is very active in the social life of the college and has been a regular Sunday afternoon caller at the reception room of the West Dormitory ever since his advent into college circles. "Woodie," you've been a good soldier and when happiness passes around we are hoping that you will get your full share.

"He stood firm at his post."

Kappa Psi Nu; Clio; Clio Entertainment, '20, '21, '22; Gymnasium Team, '20; Class Track, '20; Student Senate, '20, '21; Captain Gymnasium Team, '21; College Orchestra; Secretary-Treasurer Religious Activities Organization, '23; E. Men's Club; Class Chaplain, '23; Business Staff Student Volunteer, '23; George Club; Certificate in Chemistry.

Here is one of Uncle Sam's sailor lads who made good during the World War and then came to college and made good. "Alphabet" is small in stature, but don't let that mislead you, for he is full of "pep," pluck and persistence, and all of the other qualities that go into the making of a real man. M. J. W.'s highest ambition is to become a medical missionary. In fact, his work has already begun among the inhabitants of the North and East Dormitories, many having come under the influence of the soothing and healing charm of Dr. White's skill and ointments.

In the Class of '23 we find a man who came to us from V. M. I. Small in stature, with a mind supreme, we find "E. C." a real student, companion and friend. He is seldom excelled in his undertakings. In scholarship he stands near the top. In social life his motto is, "Onward." In fraternity life he is loyal and true. He is one of the best known members of the class, a jolly good sport, the depth of whose intellect is immeasurable. Determination and brilliancy of mind points to his future success.

"I smile for all, a greeting glad, an amiable, jolly way she had."

Psiphelian; Psiphelian Entertainment, '22; Student Council, '22; Division Secretary of Christian Endeavor, '22; Certificate in Expression, '23; Ophelia Dramatic Club, Chapel Monitor, '23.

Agnes has the reputation of being a real student. Her work comes first, play afterwards, and, "I don't know" is an unknown expression in her vocabulary. What she is going to do in the future is still undetermined, but we know that her efficiency and steadfastness cannot fail to bring success in whatever field she chooses.

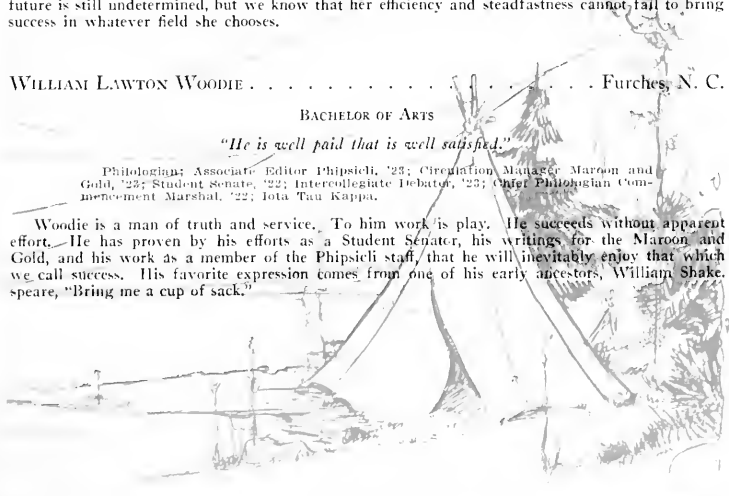

WILLIAM LAWTON WOODIE Furches, N. C.

BACHELOR OF ARTS

"He is well paid that is well satisfied."

Philologist; Associate Editor Phippsich, '23; Circulation Manager Maroon and Gold, '23; Student Senate, '22; Intercollegiate Debater, '23; Chief Philologist Commencement Marshal, '22; Iota Tau Kappa.

Woodie is a man of truth and service. To him work is play. He succeeds without apparent effort. He has proven by his efforts as a Student Senator, his writings for the Maroon and Gold, and his work as a member of the Phippsich staff, that he will inevitably enjoy that which we call success. His favorite expression comes from one of his early ancestors, William Shakespeare, "Bring me a cup of sack."

BACHELOR OF PHILOSOPHY

*"My clay with long oblivion is gone dry;
But fill me with the old familiar juice,
Methinks I might recover by and by."*

Sigma Phi Beta; Clio; Clio Entertainment, '20, '21, '22, '23; Class Poet, '21, '22; Class Debater, '22; Gymnasium Team, '20, '21; American Legion; Assistant Advertising Manager Maroon and Gold, '22; Commercial Class, '20.

"Worth" is one of the most versatile members of our class. He has splendid talent as a poet and short story writer, if he cares to exercise it. He is often heard quoting from his favorite poets, Kipling, Omar Khayyam, and Service. He served in the navy during the war, sailing far and wide over the mighty deep and touching on many and strange ports while under the parental care of Uncle Samuel. He delights in telling big yarns about navy life. He loves an argument and can "shoot a good line," which accomplishments, we predict, will serve him well in his chosen profession of law.

Senior Class Prophecy

TONIGHT as I sit by my window on the Potomac looking out on the world through the hours of the dark night, my thoughts turn to old college days and the Class of '23. My mind is occupied by memories; I'm wondering if they think of those good old days. After all, everything is for the best—the truest of true friends must part and hearts must be sad. Even through my repining I know that there is a silver lining through these dark clouds of wishing I were a college girl again. Be still my heart, it would never do to have those good old days back again. I must wake up and rejoice in my good fortune for I still have my good friends and, then I have other things. The little home is a materialized dream. I will take each one of my classmates and prophesy for them all. Some way I believe they will know that I'm thinking of them.

First, I must think of my "ole lady." When I was in college, "Lois," now Mrs. G. D. Underwood. I remember it as if it were only yesterday when I sent her a telegram telling her to come to see me. I can see her now as she flung herself in my arms, explaining "the minute I got your telegram I called up George Dewey and told him to come home immediately." The old dear came and helped me pack, and I caught the next train out of Chicago. Don't you know George Dewey is the most wonderful man in the world. He has made good at business and is now at the head of the Underwood printing establishment in Chicago, Ill." All this was said in one breath before I could put in a word.

One could not conceive a more delightful picture of matrimonial bliss than that which I behold as I think of the Gorman farm, where the little Ignatz Farmer, who had become Mrs. Banks Gorman, was feeding the chickens and smiling at "Country," who stood in the barn door calling the cows.

The last I heard of Happy Perry, he had taken a stiff course in athletics and the coaching business at Yale University. Meanwhile, Lillian Gertrude hadn't remained idle. She had attended the Chicago school of physical culture. They were married in 1927. Perry had been offered the position as coach in the University of Colorado, and as Lillian was wild to go West, he had accepted the position. They both were a couple fit to lead athletics and physical culture in any school.

Well do I remember the last time I saw Nonnie Bailey. She was coming out of White's Studio, New York City. She explained to me that she had been in to order another dozen pictures since the last dozen which she had used to procure positions had not brought satisfactory results, and she needed some more to continue her search.

Some day I want to go back to the old college. They tell me that one would hardly recognize the place with its three new buildings, cement walks and other equipment.

I always thought that Irene Goff would make the best president the institution ever knew and she is proving that I was nothing but correct in my judgment. There it seems to me that the best idea imaginable has been hit upon—woman has at last expressed her rights. This is the first woman president so far, but it's predicted that it isn't the last.

M. Z. Rhodes is the leading singer in the choir in a large church in New York. Mildred Kirkland is organist. They are married and supremely happy. Never has that organ poured forth such sweet sounds as under the touch of her fingers and never has the choir sung so well as under his leadership.

To say that H. Lee Scott is a preacher is all that is necessary. It is said that Elon has not sent out a greater orator since the days of Hawthorne. He excels in winning love. When he finishes his studies, he expects to work first for Elise and second for a job. As a proof of his love-filled intellect, he says that "all is lovely when your love loves you." Elise quite agrees with him.

P. P. Hatley, who is a happy accident, has, as his motto, "Do nothing today you can do tomorrow." His life is destined to be a complete comedy. He has many things to accomplish before he gets married, one of which is to find an opportunity. He expects to spend four years in some theological seminary, taking athletics and never doing any of it. After this period of recreation, he will preach for a living.

Margaret Homewood and Berta Crutchfield founded an institution for deserted husbands and their children whose wives had left them to go into politics.

M. J. W. White, Jr., is in South America and has preached to the heathen until the last barrier was broken down and the whole land is literally covered with Christian churches. No man of the same size ever had higher ideals. Excelling in missionary zeal, I predict for him a career which will put to shame that of Augustine or Saint Patrick. His work among the heathen completed, he will retire to his native land and spend the remainder of his days in peace and quiet.

Phippsick, 1923

If Gee Fix has ever told anyone what he intends to make of himself it was his best girl. The most remarkable feature in his make-up is aloofness from the professors. In all probability he will enter the arena of life with renewed energy, having recuperated during his four years' rest in college. He will sell sewing machines for a living.

Minnie Edge is head of the English Department at Columbia University. She is recognized as one of the most brilliant women of her day.

Bill Stoner, born to have a good time, expects to die with the same end in view. He loves ease and contentment and may, when he reaches the age of accountability, hit upon some profession foreign to work. He has thought of getting married and intends to go into the matter a little more closely at his leisure. No further prediction can be made now than that whatever happens to him, he will always be the same old Bill and will always be "Rough on Rats."

After having tried several jobs, Lawton Woodie at last found his calling. He has settled in a little cabin in the mountains and is running a large still. It is reported that he has laid up a considerable roll.

Agnes Whit put Mr. Crutchfield up to running away with the class funds and then married him for the ready cash. They say she is making him lead a dog's life.

Lance Jennings owns the leading hardware store in Gibsonville. He spends his off days in teaching the youngsters how to "kid gloves," "string beans," and "bull frogs."

Mr. Deskins is still in the "Y" work. He is the leading speaker at the Blue Ridge Conference every year.

Helen Cannon is now at the head of the amusement department at the Morganton Insane Asylum.

Lloyd Bray, after he and Jennie were married, continued his studies in one of the northern universities. He is now editor of the Atlantic Monthly, the leading magazine of the world.

Herbert Scholtz is a great preacher and has won many souls for Christ.

E. C. White, who grew tired of married life, divorced his wife and is now editor of Snappy Stories. Being inspired by his success as editor of the Phippsick, he attained this ambition.

Probably the greatest radium specialist in the United States is R. V. Morris. He has even removed warts from cucumbers with perfect ease.

Miss Mary Swanson is carrying on her work as head of the Royal Pharmaceutical Company, whose specialty is how to take off superfluous flesh and to keep the supple grace and attractiveness of youth.

Back in the hills near Glenraven there is a physician of no mean ability, known as John Brooks. He has established a large practice, although not in his line of work. Dr. Brooks is occasionally called on to amputate a carbuncle from the eyebrow of a mule.

The ancient and mystic order of the D. D. D.'s have built a shrine for old women disappointed in love through the efforts of Misses Pattie Coghill and Annie Laurie Philips.

Billy Sunday and Kreiser have long since passed away, but their places have been amply filled by Victor Rivera and John Farmer. The former was said by the popular press to be a twentieth century Moody. Concerning the latter many say "a greater than Kreiser is among us."

Margaret Moring and Mrs. Rainey are co-workers and partners in the Fuller Brush Company and Galloping Golf Balls.

Wade Mariette, being religiously inclined during his four years in college, at last decided that he would go to Africa and instruct the heathen in the theory of "How to Vamp." He, having much experience along this line, taught them very effectively.

The great essayist, Worth Wicker, has just published a wonderful piece of work on the very interesting subject, "Difference Between Marriage and Matrimony." He is making a fortune off of it.

One characteristic of Elon boys is that they always plan to be of some value in the world. "Nig" Andrews is no exception to the rule. He considers matrimony from a purely business point of view. His ambition in college was to be a physicist, and he really is one now.

Grady Brown is proprietor of the O'Henry hotel. He learned this trade while at Elon, being manager of the Ladies' Hall.

Roy Helms proved to be a great man, as we all expected. He is now a constitutional lawyer in New York and is considered to be one of the best in the country.

Gracious! It is 'most morning and here I sit. What's that? Yes, I'm coming. I've just been dreaming, that's all.

CLASS PROPHECY.

Last Will and Testament of the Class of 1923

E, being known and recognized by all present as the Class of '23, do hereby will and bequeath, in our last will and testament, our college possessions and chattels to those whom we cheerfully leave behind. Realizing that the time for our departure from these halls of learning is so rapidly approaching, and that we shall soon look for the last time into many faces which shall long be held in memory, and that all the tough course of study and professors' jokes have been mastered we, the graduating class of Elon College, declare this to be our Last Will and Testament.

SECTION 1.

Article 1. To Dr. Harper we leave all our diplomatic, capricious, and complicated phraseology, to aid him in "spoofing" students at a more rapid rate.

Article 2. To the deans, Dr. Helfenstien and Professor Hook, who have had so many consultations concerning the Class of '23, considering why we are so different from all other classes, often puzzled and mystified at our brilliant, intellectual and enigmatic mannerisms, we wish to lay at their feet a bundle of requests, begging that they forgive us because we are different, and it was impossible to change ourselves in four short years.

Article 3. That august, illustrious and majestic assembly of nature to inspire us with awe and reverence, better known as the faculty, we leave the undying respect, good-will and hearty co-operation of the Class of '23.

SECTION 2.

Article 1. To the Class of '24 we leave all our athletic, literary and traditional honors, also our senior and social privileges, providing that said privileges are always within the bounds of "conventionality."

Article 2. To our sister class, the loyal and bold sophomores, we will and bequeath with much love the enviable and indisputable rights of wielding the celebrated "Buck-Three-Paddle," freely and indiscriminately upon any and all freshmen guilty of misdemeanor.

Article 3. Upon the notorious freshman class, we bestow our superb senior dignity, refinement and intellectual attainments, all these being conspicuous by their absence in said class.

SECTION 3.

Article 1. Gee Fix, W. L. Woodie and P. P. Hatley will their skill in drinking from a fruit jar, without leaving a mark across their noses, to the Reverend Sorrell.

Article 2. Esther Farmer reluctantly leaves to Mr. Sion Lynam her poetic ability, hoping that it will help him in composing sonnets to Mary.

Article 3. Margaret Homewood bestows her sweet and angelic disposition to Lucy Austin, and her heart and hand to Boob Hazlitt.

Article 4. Her coquettish, vampish and flippant ways, Minnie Edge leaves to Eva Underwood, with instructions to "Hook" her a man if she can.

Article 5. Nonnie Bailey bequeaths to Marjorie Oldham her chest of cosmetics, such as rouge, lip-sticks, eyebrow pencils, mabeline and belladonna, also her false hair and electric curlers.

Article 6. Roy Helms, H. Lee Scott and Grady Brown will their oratorical ability to Joe Bynum Gay. Scott and Helms hope that the hot air they lose will not make any vital change in the climate.

Article 7. Mrs. Grace Rainey and Helen Cannon leave their rolling pins, moral persuasers and nuptial lingo to Jennie Gunter and Clarine Lincoln, thus endowing them with the sacred and reserved rights of keeping "Loyd" and "H. E." in the straight and narrow way.

Article 8. Berta Crutchfield and Agnes Whitt bequeath their chaperoning privileges to Nannie Aldridge and Mary Hall Stryker, with explicit instructions to take every person that asks them to Burlington every day.

Phippsick, 1923

Article 9. Lois Holland bestows, wills and bequeaths to Mamie Sockwell her enviable record of having never violated any rule or tradition of the college. At no time has she ever broken her pledge to support "the integrity, honor and reputation of Elon College." Her only weakness being her social tendencies, so she gladly wills these to Lena Jackson, hoping that her talks to "Shorty" will be as inspirational as the giver's has been.

Article 10. Her never-ending line to men, her truthful and honorable traits, Mary Nelle Holland leaves to Ismay Barnes.

Article 11. Nig Andrews, Cam Morris and M. J. W. White will their self-possessed manners and charming personalities to Huey, Seba High and "Smutt" Foushee.

Article 12. Margaret Moring bequeaths her babyish, coquettish and pretty ways to Mary Lee Foster.

Article 13. Mildred Kirkland and M. Z. Rhodes will their speedy matrimonial proceedings to Freda Dimmick and Jesse Barker.

Article 14. Herbert Scholtz and Mr. Deskins leave to Kent Patton and Jack Underwood some of their 70 C's, 70's and 75's, so that their high averages will be pulled down some.

Article 15. John Brooks and Worth Wicker bequeath their pipe dreams of "Somewhere East of Suez" to Professor Cotton.

Article 16. Her hope chest, love sonnets and her favorite volume entitled, "How to Write Effective Love Letters," Mary Swanson wills to Zondal Meyers.

Article 17. Wade Marlette and Bill Stoner will their indifference toward women to Alf Brown.

Article 18. Owing to the fact that Elise Caddell no longer needs her vampish charms, she willingly bestows them upon Annie Belle Cardwell.

Article 19. Hap Perry leaves his experience "Abroad" to Leon Williams.

Article 20. Pats Coghill wills her lack of ability to Rose Howell.

Article 21. Lloyd Bray solemnly and seriously bequeaths to Josephine Alford his jade green sweater, hoping that it will serve in bringing out the word on her face, "Freshman."

Article 22. To Rob Brown, Lance Jennings leaves his profuse and incomparable vocabulary, accompanied by a bottle of "Peptone."

Article 23. Peggie Phillips wills her skill in track to York Brannock.

Article 24. His bass voice and inestimable dignity, George Dewey Underwood bestows upon Hilda Burgess.

Article 25. Marion Isabella Crutchfield leaves his inborn social tendencies, along with the reception room settee, to Lillian Harrell.

Article 26. To Jess Dollar, E. C. White wills a heart full of sympathy and mutual understanding. Knowing that Jess, as well as he, has been through the "rolling pin stage."

Article 27. Victor M. Rivera leaves all of his teaching knowledge to Alice Barrett, trusting that her Spanish class will increase in learning, and acquit themselves nobly.

Article 28. His Kreisler-like violin ability, John Farmer bestows upon Mary Lee Williams, under the condition that she play Pattie Flynn's blues away in case he should be stricken.

Article 29. To "Jew Baby" Atkinson, Irene Goff leaves her sweet temper; her pleasing conversational tone she leaves to Margaret Rowland, and her ability to yell at ball games she wills to Kate Strader, hoping that none of her vocal organs will be strained.

SECTION 4.

Article 1. We nominate and appoint our Class Sponsor, Dr. N. F. Brannock, to be executor of this, our last will and testament, with all authority to use his own judgment in changing or altering any trusts herein created.

Article 2. Whereunto we, the Class of 1923, being in sound mind, set our hand and seal.

Junior Class History

COLLEGE was bustling with the usual activities prevalent to the annual opening of the school term. In addition to the old students there were many new ones, the majority of whom would enter the Freshman Class.

By October 20th we had discovered ourselves as individuals, so we organized the Class of '24. For our motto we chose "To gleam is better than to blaze," and for our colors, green and white. The sophomores took our first debate. In athletics we fell short, but consoled ourselves thinking of the coming year.

Time passed rapidly. We soon awoke to the realization that we were sophomores. The fall of 1921 found our ranks sorely depleted; however, we are bound together with bonds of love and fellowship that will not be broken by a mere jar. We never failed to back our boys with plenty of "pep" in all athletic contests. Although we lost some athletic games and our inter-class debate, we are not cast down. It is just as great to take defeat without complaining as it is to glory in victory. Another year has rolled around and we are back again in the fall of 1922. We are thirty-seven strong, sober, level-headed juniors. We had the satisfaction of winning the junior-senior debate, and our junior year is hardly half passed. There are other laurels for us to win and we are doing our best to make good our motto: "It is better to gleam than to blaze."

CLASS HISTORIAN.

Junior Class Poem

Together here a few short years,
 Beneath our green and gold;
Then out upon the sea of life
 A steady course to hold.

Together here to work and play,
 To gleam instead of blaze;
Then out upon the road of life
 Along our separate ways.

Together building friendships true
 As fleeting years go by;
Then out into the night of life
 With golden lamps held high.

Together here, together there,
 In spirit evermore,
True to the best in college days—
 That best is Twenty-four.

Sophomore Class History

ON the sixth day of September, nineteen hundred and twenty-one, our class wandered into the unknown to solve the mysteries of the "Hill." Our anticipations had been great, but the realization was greater. With a desperate determination we survived the ordeal of matriculation and the initial appearance on classes. On the following Saturday evening we were graciously invited to our first faculty reception. Having been warned by our kind sister class, the juniors, we put on our Sunday manners, adorned our countenances with a petrified grin and went bravely forth. There we met and greeted each dignitary of the college, and the girls were formally introduced to the boys of the student body. This was where the socializing began. We are yet unable to say where it will end. The reception concluded happily with our spirits running high—but not for long! The Sophs were ready and waiting to give us another "reception." The least said of this the better we feel. However, it was a very warm, cordial reception and from this time on we felt that we were true Elonites.

On November 1st we organized with John Smith as our first president. Soon followed examinations, Christmas vacation, and later, class games and debates.

This class has been a most successful one in every line of endeavor, losing only the basketball championship. This left to our share the baseball and track championships and the debate. The last mentioned contest was of the greatest importance since it broke a long-established tradition. Our successes, however, have not made us so self-confident that we think we can win without trying, but rather, it encouraged us to work harder to maintain our enviable record.

We have returned this year one step higher in our college career. With Thomas Hanner as our leader, we have already accomplished some things—including the "welcoming" of the freshmen. Our members have proved loyal to each other, to the faculty, to the college and class athletic teams and to our sister class. There are, in this class as in other classes, genuine scholars, well-known athletes and social leaders. Though greatly decreased in numbers from the original group, we, believing in the survival of the fittest, look forward to two more pleasant and profitable years, as we press onward to the goal of graduation.

CLASS HISTORIAN.

Sophomore Class Poem

We have passed from our stage of ignorance
To the sophomore's wise estate,
But we realize that deeds, not words,
Can make us truly great;
We know we cannot be idle,
Great things are accomplished by work,
And we hope in Twenty-five's army
There is not one soldier a shirk.

We must furnish our college with athletes,
With scholars and social belles, too;
We must take part in every activity
Old Elon may try to put through;
Still we do not care to be boastful,
More like our class flower we,
The little brown-eyed susan
Will show us how modest to be.

To our colors of brown and gold
We will ever be steadfastly true,
And underneath our fine banner
We will rise to dare and do;
We will give to each college team,
In every work and sport,
The best of pep and enthusiasm,
We will lend them our hearty support.

To each teacher we'll give the respect
That to their good work is due,
Not the line of least resistance,
But the worth-while paths pursue;
In nothing we'll be behind,
But ever "onward" strive
To win the highest honors
For the class of Twenty-five.

Freshman Class History

E, of the Freshman Class, lay no claim to anything startling or unique in the way of history up to the present good hour, but merely wish to chronicle a few plain facts concerning the class. If these are dull and prosy, let us remember that the history of the Class of '26 is, for the most part, in the making.

On Sept. 6, 1922, we arrived on the "Hill" one hundred twenty-five strong. We were painfully conscious that the color scheme of the class was extremely "green," but for the first week we were so "blue" that to some extent, at least, blue must have overshadowed the all too evident green. Then it was that the kindness of our upper classmen saved us from utter despair and for the first time we caught the real significance of the "Elon Spirit." We were the recipients of all kinds of favors and met with cheery good-will and fellowship on all sides. Faculty and students seemed to vie with one another to make us feel that we were members of the inner circle of the Elon family. Accordingly blues dispelled like morning mist and contentment now reigns supreme.

Nov. 1, 1922, we assembled in the chapel and, under the supervision of Prof. T. E. Powell, were organized into the Class of 1926. Nothing of enthusiasm and class spirit was wanting. All entered into the business of organization with a will.

Our motto, "We can, we will," may be hard to live up to, but it is a challenge to each member of the class to do his best. We know that our way will not be strewn with roses and that difficulties will often loom large, but these we hope to overcome by persistent effort and determination.

HISTORIAN.

Freshman Class Poem

We spend much time upon our books
 In our happy freshman days;
 For we long to have the sophomores' looks
 And act the sophomores' ways.

We know the rules. Yes, that's true,
 But that is just a beginning;
 We now must show ourselves true blue,
 For many battles need winoing.

Oh! Yes, indeed, we've come to know,
 That we now have less knowledge
 Than we thought we had nine months ago
 When we first entered college.

Our college course will cost us much
 Of anxious toil and care,
 But only those who climb the hill
 Can the joys of success share.

And, if success should come to us,
 As we climb round by round,
 We'll gladly turn to dear Elon
 And lay our trophies down.

*"Honor be to valiant 'Choctaws'!"

LONGFELLOW: HIAWATHA

Graduate Manager L. M. Cannon

Last fall Mr. Cannon took upon himself the position of graduate manager and the responsibility that comes from the management of all branches of athletics and he is deserving of any honors that we may give him in this connection. Mr. Cannon is an Alumni of Elon and an ex-star in the track and football. In 1919 he was captain of the track team, and in 1920, captain of the football eleven. His co-operative spirit and splendid personality, no doubt, contributed much to his success as manager and has won many friends for himself and for the college.

Coach Frank B. Corboy

After four stellar years as a high school athlete and a brilliant career at the University of Pittsburgh, Mr. Corboy spent three years as a coach. He coached football in Altoona, Pa., one season, football and baseball in France one season, and football in Georgia one season. In 1920 he came to Elon and started athletics on an upward climb in the three major sports. The teams, under his watchful eye, have competed very favorably with the college teams of this and other states. If Mr. Corboy has a hobby, it is football, yet his mentorship in basketball and baseball has been a source of many compliments. Elon is very fortunate in having Mr. Corboy as head coach of athletics.

Football Review

IN reviewing the football season of 1922 we can say that it was the best ever enjoyed by the college since the inauguration of the game as an inter-collegiate sport.

The prospects before the opening of college seemed excellent, but quite the contrary when college opened and it was found that some of the men, upon whom the dependance of making places on the team, failed to re-enter. Then, to make matters worse, Cameron, who had been elected captain, was forced to leave just two days before the opening game with Davidson. Our team was defeated 24 to 0 in this game, and several breaks against us gave them two of the four touchdowns.

The day before we left for Wake Forest, Grady Brown was forced out with a sprained ankle and could not play. This caused the line-up to be again shifted, and a green player take his place. This game was lost, 7 to 0, although outplaying them for three periods of the game. The team finally rounded into shape for the Lenoir game, which was won 48 to 6. Then Hampden-Sidney was defeated 13 to 6, but this game took its toll when Grady Brown had his collar bone broken. Erskine was the next victim, 10 to 0, at Charlotte. Emory and Henry came in for a sound drubbing on their field by the score of 29 to 0. Guilford was the next opponent and the game was played at Greensboro, where we had never won a game, but this was our year and the Quakers were defeated 20 to 6. This game showed the ability of Perry as, perhaps, no other game during the year. Lynchburg was played next and a tie game (6 to 6) was the result.

This game had John Smith as the victim, his knee being so badly injured that he was forced out for the remainder of the season.

The strain of such a strenuous campaign and the injuries suffered by the team had its effect as well as the hard and unrelenting work it had to go through with to make it the success it was. The result being that the team was stale and suffered a complete rout at Roanoke. It could not recover in time to stave off defeat by Randolph-Macon who triumphed over us 12 to 0.

Personally, I feel that the season was a success, not so much in the games won and lost, but by the spirit, the untiring effort put forth by the team to do their best under adverse conditions.

It was a pleasure for me to work with such a loyal, hard-working and devoted set of men as were out for football this year and to them is deserving the honor bestowed upon them.

COACH F. B. CORBOY.

CAPTAIN LINDSAY J. PERRY

Lindsay J. Perry, "Hap"

Captain and Quarterback

After four stellar years on the varsity, two of which he was captain, he was considered by his team-mates to be a football genius. He was chosen as an all-state quarterback and was placed on one of the picked teams from the several colleges of the state. Besides his wonderful generalship, he did most of the punting, drop kicking and passing. Though he suffered with an injured hand during the last four games of the season, he continued the beautiful passing which meant so much to his team. Perry's work in the Guilford game gained much honor for himself and his Alma Mater. Though his football days are over, his name will not be soon forgotten in football circles.

The Varsity

G. A. BROWN, "Grady," Tackle.

After two years' experience on the gridiron, '20, '21, Brown came back last fall and gave a good account of himself. With his weight and powerful strength he often smashed plays and opened holes that looked impossible. He showed great form in the second game of the season when his team put a fright into North Carolina football circles by holding the strong Wake Forest machine to seven points. Coach Corboy was expecting Grady to be his mainstay in the line, but an injury in his back just before the Davidson game kept him out of some of the hardest games. In the Hampden-Sidney game he suffered a broken collar bone, which prevented his being in another game. Through Grady's misfortune, the team lost one of its best men.

GORDON KIRKLAND, "Chubby," Halfback.

Chubby was a speedy halfback and, in stature, a giant. He was all that his name implies and a strong cog in the Maroon and Gold machine. When it comes to sidestepping around the end, he is hard to beat. He was especially adapted to finding and plowing holes through his opponents' lines. We hope that Chubby will return the next two years and blaze a trail of glory for old Elon.

MCGHEE FIX, "Gee," Halfback.

During his four years here he has enjoyed two years of varsity football. His line bucks and end runs were always a source of trouble for the opposing team. We well remember Gee's heroic action in the Guilford game when he carried the ball thirty-five yards to a nice scoring distance, while only a few minutes later his team pushed over the line for the first touchdown of the game. We all regret that this pigskin warrior will not be back next year.

MARK McADAMS, "Mark."

Fullback and Captain-elect.

Mark is a plunging fullback who hits the line like a ten-ton piledriver. We cannot over-estimate the debt we owe to this sturdy athlete for his splendid work during the football season of 1923. He was always ready when called on to put forth his last fighting blood for the glory of Maroon and Gold. By his consistent and fast playing, coupled with his ability to put new confidence in his team, he earned the honor of captain of next year's eleven.

The Varsity

JOHN SMITH, "John," Tackle.

John, by his brilliant defensive work and his power to open holes in the opposing lines, made one of the most valuable linemen Elon ever had. In the Lynchburg game, he continually bore the brunt of the powerful Bulldog defense and the yardage gained over his position could be counted on the fingers of one hand, until he was knocked out, badly hurt, in the latter part of the game. Great things are expected of Smith next year.

ALF BROWN, "Alf," Tackle.

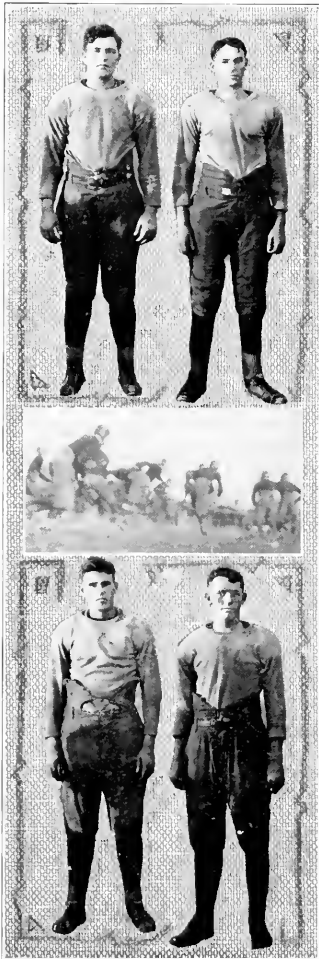

Alf came to us last year from Elon high school, void of football experience. By hard work and much thought devoted to the game, he won for himself a regular place on the varsity team. His mentors say that he has the qualities for a future grid star. He deserves much praise for his efforts toward the making of a successful team last fall. Brown has three more years in the Maroon and Gold uniform.

ARCHIE BRAXTON, "Brack," Center.

Gaze upon the man that snapped the pigskin and held the pivot position for the Maroon and Gold youngsters in every game of the past season. Brack was what we call in football, a sweet center. He was always there with the punch. He played his first college football last fall, but he played like an old ringer. We are anxious to see Braxton snap the skin again next year. Look out, Trinity!

JOHN WHITESELL, "Red," Guard.

"Red," a veteran of former years, was a strapping guard of untold strength who played consistent football all the season and established the record of never getting hurt. His steadiness counted heavily in the Guilford and Erskine games when these teams threatened to score. Whitesell has one more year and he is expected to be a great asset to next year's eleven. His motto was, "Hit 'em hard first, last and always."

The Varsity

CLIFTON FLYNN, "Pat," End.

Patty was a steady worker and a very quick man on defense. Very little did he depend on his tackle to help him get his man. Some of us remember the splendid tackling he did in the Randolph-Macon game. The yards gained through his position during the season were few. Although he says very little, he makes a lasting impression on the opposing backs and linesmen. With two years' experience it is predicted that he will be one of the best ends in the state next season.

JOE GANTZ, "Joe," Quarterback.

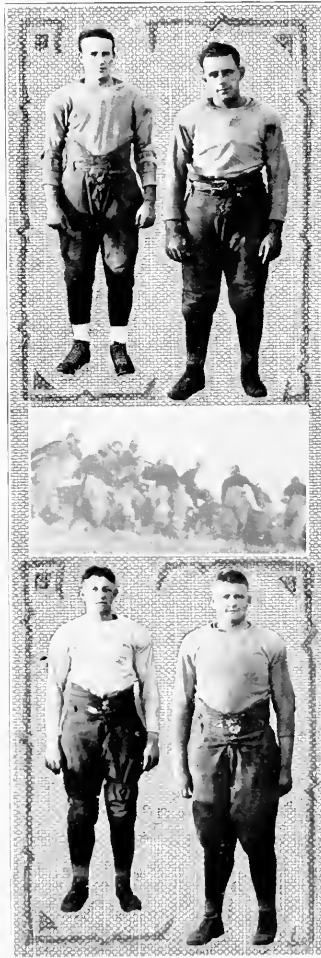

Joe came to us last fall from the hills of Pennsylvania. He was so unfortunate as to receive injuries in the early part of training and, therefore, was delayed in getting the necessary drive. Though small in stature, he filled the bill to his utmost ability and with another year's experience, we expect to see him make great headway in grid shoes.

HAL CLARK, "Hal," End.

Hal's uncanny ability to diagnose the plays of the opposing teams, together with his remarkable ability to receive forward passes, made him and Perry one of the most formidable scoring combinations on the squad. It was such a combination that tied the score with Lynchburg. It was a real pleasure to see him get the man carrying the ball by a tackle from the rear and snatch passes out of the opposing back's hands and continue down the field. Clark, we hope to see you in action next year.

SEBA HIGH, "Zeba," Guard.

This being his first experience on the varsity proved that he had more than just three hundred and seventeen pounds of organic matter, for he is a real football player in the truest sense of the word. His weight and long reach made it possible for him to protect his part of the line with ease. It is hard to forget that unique way he had of spilling three or four men at a single play. High has two more years on Comer field.

The Varsity

CLAUDE THOMAS, "Tommy," Guard.

This husky lad hails from the mountains of Virginia. He is not a back number when it comes to football, but he is always giving his man some real shocks. Since he was a first year man, we cannot but think of the good he will do in future seasons. Thomas has great reserve power and ability and the reputation of being a hard worker. We are hoping that Tommy will be among the first to hit the dummy next September.

JESSE BARKER, "Jess," Center.

Jess was a general utility man, playing in every position in the line from end to end. He was good in the line and gifted with rare football brains. He often broke through the line and threw the runner for a loss. With two years' of experience he should cause much worry in the ranks of the opposition next year. We are sorry that Jess has only one more season in the college sport.

ARCHER FARMER, "Archie," Tackle

Here is another man who played his first college game of football last fall and he performed with the poise of a veteran. Archie is fast and heavy, a splendid combination for a gridiron scrapper. He was a terror to the opposing backfield because he broke through on nearly every play and downed some man in his tracks. Watch out, Guilford! This 195 pounds avoirdupois is not to be trifled with. Ere he becomes a senior, we predict that he will have made an enviable record for himself on the gridiron.

HAROLD C. HAINER, "Rhode Island,"
Halfback.

This lad came to us from the state of Rhode Island, and he has all of the pep and punch of the typical Yank. He was a good gainer on off-tackle plays and around the end he was a speed king. His build and speed have been valuable assets to him and to the team. Since this is his first year on the varsity team, he will have ample opportunity for improvement in the next three years. We cannot forget those end runs he made in the Erskine game.

The Basketball Season, 1923

IMMEDIATELY after the last kick of the pigskin, athletes and fans turned their attention to the great indoor sport, basketball. When Coach Corboy issued the call for the winter game thirty candidates responded, six of whom were letter men from the 1922 team—Captain Fix, L. J. Perry, Rob Brown, McAdams, Marlette and Barker.

From January 5th to the 16th the team was winding into shape. On the night of the 16th, coach sent a team on the floor against V. P. I. at Blacksburg, Va., that looked good for a championship contender, but before the trip of four games through Virginia and Tennessee was ended, A. Brown was forced out of the game on account of the "flu." We broke even on the trip, however, losing to V. P. I. and Carson-Newman, and winning from King and Emory and Henry. On January 26th, Lenoir was snowed under by a comfortable margin. Two regulars were out of this game, due to illness.

The trip to Raleigh and Wake Forest was made without McAdams. We triumphed over N. C. State and lost a hard-fought game to the Baptist crew. Following this trip we played five consecutive games on the home court, four of which were the hardest and most important of the entire season. Coach was confident, with McAdams back in the line-up, and a reasonable number of breaks, that the team would win a majority of the home games. But just as the team was at its best, the two Brown brothers were out of the game on account of sickness in their home. In spite of the fact that two of the regular five were out, the team displayed plenty of scrapping ability, but lost to N. C. State and Wake Forest by 3 and 2-point margins respectively. Next in order was Guilford, our ancient rivals, who went down in bloody defeat at the hands of the regular five to the tune of 24 to 14. Following the Guilford game, we suffered a bitter defeat at the hands of the husky quint from Davidson.

In the next two games the team showed the poorest team work of the winter, winning a slow game from Atlantic Christian College and taking a licking from the Quakers on the latter's floor. The last trip of the season began on March 2d, on the Lenoir court, where the Lutherans went down before the Christians in a close and hard-fought battle. At Davidson, March 3d, the Maroon and Gold squad wound up the season in a blaze of glory, downing the Wild Cat aggregation by a score of 39 to 25.

Notwithstanding the disorganization caused by sickness and frequent visits of Mr. Jynx with "Bob" Brown, the team succeeded in nosing out a majority of wins and scoring a total of 411 points to their opponents' 396.

CAPTAIN J. M. FIX

J. M. Fix, "Ghee"

Captain and Forward

Fix, captain of the basketball squad this season, played a wonderful game except at times during the first part of the schedule when he was forced out on account of a sprained ankle. The last three years he has been one of the best forwards in the state. His ability to shoot from all angles of the floor made him lead his team in field goals with a total of fifty-seven. He was chosen as an All-State Forward this season. "Ghee" leaves us this year with the Class of '23. We hope that he will be as successful in life as he has been in basketball.

Letter Men, 1923

ROBERT BROWN, Forward
"Rob"

"Bob" was a good basketball player in every department of the game. He was good on defense and like a streak on offense. His dribbling was a fright to the opposition. He played his best game against N. C. State January 31st when he caged the ball six times in the last half. He won a place on the All-State Team and has been chosen to captain the Elon Five next year.

ALPH BROWN, Center
"Alf"

"Alf" was a freshman of rare promise. His playing during the past season has attracted much attention and predicts a future basketball star for Elon. The "flu" kept him out of several games which caused the team to suffer much. In the last game of the season at Davidson he played like a veteran. Elon fans are more than proud of this youngster.

LINDSAY PERRY, Guard
"Hap"

Perry was a man of much endurance. Through his four years as a member of the Elon quintet he has made an enviable record for himself. He has developed into one of the best guards that has donned a Maroon and Gold uniform in many years. He was especially good in shooting foul goals. During the past season he scored 127 of his team's points, 77 of which were foul goals. Perry graduates with the Class of '23. We regret that he will not be back for the winter sport again.

MARK McADAMS, Guard
"Mac"

McAdams has proved himself to be one of the closest guarding men in North Carolina. He was a terror to the enemy. Though not so accurate as some in his shooting, he was continually breaking up passes and starting the big sphere back toward his own basket. He has one more year of scrapping between the baskets with a Maroon and Gold five.

Letter Men, 1923

WADE MARLETTE, Guard "Marley"

"Marley" played a consistent game at guard whenever called upon to exercise his basketball ability. He always showed an indomitable fighting spirit. Many forwards met their downfall when they tried to advance the ball by him. His ability to break plays was somewhat marred by his inability to handle the ball. This one handicap being partially responsible for his not winning a regular berth. He will be sadly missed next year.

JESSE BARKER, Center "Jess"

Barker was one of the six letter men that returned from last year's squad. He was used as a general utility man until the latter part of the season when he cast his trunks aside and began to warm his arm for baseball. Barker was always ready to spend his last energy when called upon for old Elon. "Jess" has one more year in the game.

LANIER JONES, Forward "Shorty"

Jones is one of the newest members of the Elon basketball squad. He hails from Burlington high school, where he enjoyed a very brilliant career as an athlete. "Shorty" is a fast man and always puts his best into the game when he gets on the floor. He is very accurate in his shooting. With a little more experience he will make a good basketeer.

Phipsicki, 1923

BASE-BALL

Baseball Review, 1922

THE team that represented Elon on the diamond last year was the best that has donned the Maroon and Gray tinted caps in a number of years, although its life as a ball club was inconsistent. One of the strongest nines in North Carolina college circles defeated us on its home lot 14 to a goose egg, while a few days later we met the self-same club on Comer Field and enjoyed sweet revenge with an overwhelming victory, 9 to 0.

When spring training started, nine letter men from the 1921 club and a number of freshmen reported to Coach Corboy for a tryout. A big surprise came to the sport prophets on March 27th, when we lost the first game of the schedule to Lenoir on our own ground by the score of 4 to 3. Following this, we took Erskine into camp by a 4 to 1 count. The next invaders were the Furman University lads. "Leity" Fogleman was too much for the South Carolina batsmen, and we won 6 to 2. The next two games were with the Wake Forest and N. C. State respectively. On account of inability to hit when hits counted runs, these games were added to our loss column.

Everything was set for a victory over N. C. State April 6th on Comer Field, but at the end of four successful innings the game was called off on account of rain. The Davidson Wild Cats out-hit us April 14th before the local fans and won a close battle 9 to 8.

On April 17th we met Guilford at Cone Park in Greensboro. This proved to be one of the fastest games of the season. We lost in the tenth frame as the result of a base on balls, an infield out and a wild peg to first base.

Our next baseball guests were the V. P. I. boys on April 21st and 22d. In the first match Perry hurled a nice game and we won 6 to 4. In the second Barker pitched a wonderful game, while his team-mates were not able to hit the opposing pitcher. At nightfall the game was called a 3-3 tie.

On April 25th, the team left Elon for a six-day trip in South Carolina. The first game was with Erskine at Due West. Until the ninth inning we had the game won, when a two-base hit, with the bases full, gave us the small end of a 4 to 3 score.

The game with Presbyterian College was cancelled on account of rain. After a long ride we lost to Newberry on the 27th. The following day we met the same club in Greenwood and won by a 10 to 1 score after hitting the Newberry pitchers to every corner of the lot. The last game of the trip was dropped to Furman.

On May 1st Wake Forest invaded our territory and suffered a 9 to 0 defeat at the hands of the hard-hitting Elonites. On May 6th the squad journeyed to Davidson and lost the second time to the Red and Black sluggers. The season ended on May 8th when Washington and Lee took from the Maroon and Gold boys the big end of an 8 to 4 slugging feast.

The men winning letters or adding stars were as follows: Captain Newman, Underwood, Johnson, Perry, Clark, Marlette, Stoner, Flynn, Check, Smith, Patton, Fogelman, Barker and Allston.

CAPTAIN GEORGE D. UNDERWOOD

Underwood came to us three years ago from Wake Forest, where he played first base for one season. Like a veteran, he took his stand behind the plate for Elon. His ability to receive and peg to second base has proven a great asset to the team. He is a good first base man and hits the horsehide to the tune of 300 and over. George Dewey graduates this year with the Class of '23, leaving behind him an enviable athletic record and a host of friends.

THE BASEBALL SQUAD

The 1923 Prospectus

As these lines go to press, forty Elon men with Coach Corboy are thinking in terms of baseball. Each afternoon Captain Underwood, with a number of veterans, are working in the interest of what is predicted to be the best baseball club Elon has produced in many seasons. Barker, Perry and Fogelman, last year's moundsmen, will be the mainstays in the pitching department, although Perry has been working behind the bat and looks good as a receiver. Braxton, R. Brown and "Jack" Underwood are likely to gain berths on the varsity pitching staff. Stoner, Patton and Marlette are the only men left from the infield of last year. Patton no doubt will be shifted to the outfield this season. New men that are looking good for the infield are: Kirkland, Fix, Hooks, Lindley and Gilliam. G. A. Brown, the hard-hitting outfielder of the 1921 team, will likely be in the mid garden, while Flynn and Smith, both of last year's varsity, are lobbing the pill around the lot. Big, husky Farmer, of last year's squad, will try his best for an outfield position along with Braxton, Newlin and A. Brown. Coach Corboy is very optimistic and is very confident that, when the season closes, Elon will be a close runner for state honors.

The Sphere of Woman

They talk about a woman's sphere as though it

Had a limit;

There's not a place in earth or heaven,

There's not a task to mankind given,

There's not a blessing or a woe,

There's not a whispered yes or no,

There's not a life, or death, or birth,

That has a feather's weight of worth—

Without a woman in it.

HUMOR

Credit to Whom Credit is Due

BEFORE proceeding further we wish to take the opportunity of expressing our real sentiments towards all with whom we have been associated in the production of this volume of the PHIPSI CHI. To the gentleman who was so kind in assisting us to complete our photographic work, we express our sincere thanks. To the head of the art department and his assistants, who contributed much to the make-up of this book, we are profoundly grateful. To the heads of all departments who have cooperated with us and to all who have contributed in any way to make the ninth volume of the PHIPSI CHI a success, we owe many thanks. To all members of the faculty who have been considerate towards us on account of our work, we pledge eternal gratitude. Finally, to the fellow called ToTo, we wish to say, "Boy, you are the real stuff".

Likewise, we glory in this opportunity of expressing our true state of mind concerning that dastardly and insidious element of college society which belongs to the polluted and poisonous organization of professional knockers who have sought to block every effort of honest men to achieve an honest task.

We were by nature peaceful and peace-loving citizens, seeking faithfully and earnestly to produce a good Annual, but your eternal and everlasting grumbling and growling, grouching, complaining, meddling, knocking, kicking, and interfering has turned us into rearing, raving, roaring, maniacs without principle or reason, without regard for life or property. Beware! If you don't like this book, if you are going to offer more of your destructive criticism and condemnation, remove your unappreciative carcass to the uttermost part of far-off Siberia before you begin your senseless gabbering. Don't come near us! We are more ferocious and bloodthirsty than the fiercest man-eater that ever stalked the plains of darkest Africa, and more dangerous, in anger, than Jack Dempsey and all the rest of the fistic champions that have entered the pugilistic ring since the dawn of the pre-Cambrian era! Beware!

The Humorous Section follows. Read loud and listen attentively. If you can't see the points to our jokes, then the joke is on you. Again say we, PERUSE!

THE STAFF.

ELON TRAMPLES LANCASTER IN BLOOD CURDLING FRAY

HISTORIANS STARTLED BY DISCOVERY OF PROF. COTTEN

Enthusiasm Runs Riot; Popcorn Sales Enormous.

The Elon machine gaily trampled Lancaster University for a victory yesterday on the home field. Extreme cold prevented the pitchers from throwing more goals, which would have undoubtedly piled up the score.

Lancaster came to bat first and kicked the ball to Elon's 30-yard line. Hainer recovered it and lost his helmet before being fanned out on Elon's 46-yard line.

Six yards was gained on balls, and a try to center field caught Croft, of Lancaster, napping and broke his wishbone.

Senor Fernandez, at center, won the toss-up, and Elon lost the ball on a fumble to Shortstop Weller.

MAROON AND GOLD MAKES GRATIS GIFT

Maroon and Gold, as a favor to its readers, has found a copy of the 1923 Phi-Psi-Chi outside this issue. You will find it in front of the first page and succeeding page four.

We had hoped to have a better gift for our readers, but finances permitted only this small remembrance in the form of the annual. Bear with us and try to read it. At least look at the pictures.

PROF. DINGO, B.B.O. S.
LE. K. E.P.C.

The above photo is of H. K. Dingo, who comes to the faculty for next year. He is a scholar of parts, a man of brain and brawn.

He will hold Dr. Harper's chair nearer the desk. Maroon and Gold extends hearty greetings to Prof. Dingo, and also to our president on his choice of one so faculty fit.

Julius Caesar, Togo Toter, Bent the Crooked Oak

All Alamance is startled over the discovery that Julius Caesar, late of Rome, was an Elon man. The honor for the discovery belongs to Wm. Jefferson Cotten, a member of the Elon Faculty.

The discovery followed Cotten's noticing the initials J. C. deeply graved on the back of a class room seat. Knowing beyond a doubt that J. C. did not stand for Jefferson Cotten, he surmised that the bit of carving must have been the work of Julius Caesar.

College records in general do not have a trace of the Roman Emperor as a student here. Finding the records fruitless, Cotten made no progress for months, then one day he heard Dr. Watson, a venerable citizen, remark: "I wish Julie was here to Gaul the faculty."

This clue gradually unfolded until items of Caesar's college days were pouring in. Thanks is due the Society of Historic Twaddle of Paris, who allowed Prof. Cotten to gallop through their documents.

The Burden of Proof

(A Letter to Chief Fuller)
Idle in March
Hither Belgaum

Dear Lingerer:

Your very welcome letter came down through the Helvetian lines this morn'g.

I see, you like to be back on the Hill! This Emperor stuff isn't what it ought to be.

Even the East Dormitory would look good after a couple of campaigns in this Mud. The Barbarian roads are fierce. Any time that you desire to night I will try to fix it for you.

In haste, as a gay named orge-torix has broken loose,

Write soon.

Dear Mr. Caesar:

Kindly renew your note, which we are enclosing. We have a little item on the books regarding your heading a sipping northeast of the depot. Your thoughtlessness has caused this tree to grow up badly bent. We will let you off at ten dollars for this offense.

Could you send us some students from Rome next fall?

Yours very much,

L. W. YAWN.

(A Letter to Cleopatra)
Dear Cleo:

Sorry that I could not run down for Sunday. My favorite chorio horse, Phalanx, broke his knuckle while swimming in the Tiber yesterday.

TOUGH LUCK BEFALLS ME

Colonel Oscar Mc, college truck driver, met with a painful accident while sitting at supper on Wednesday night.

Colonel Mc, experiencing rabid hunger, bit into a bite of steak and immediately reported pain in his face. Examination by Dr. Cadden showed Colonel Mc had broken his jawbone.

An X-ray picture of the steak was taken and disclosed the steak to be copper-lined.

Colonel Mc will not be aboard his truck for several days.

POLLY PATS POWDER PUFF

Polly O'Grady, roommate of Miss Jennie Gunter, is fond of dogs. This frailty led her into a laughable incident on Thursday morning. Miss O'Grady came into her room as the fourth period started, and seeing what she took for Miss Essie Cotten's poodle dog, "Beeswax", lying on the floor, she stooped down to pat the canine midgut.

She recoiled in amazement as the little window washer did not snuff at her as usual.

Miss O'Grady called in Miss Sarah Catter, and together they found it not to be a dog, but Miss Foster's powder puff. It was Miss O'Grady's mistake.

Hubby: "Our new cook must also be a taxidermist."
Wife: "Why?"
Hubby: "I feel like I was stuffed with sawdust."

Jack and Jill came on the Hill Aboard the late night train. The Faculty said, "Howdy, Jack." But sent Jill home again.

The inhabitants of Elon are fond of fried chicken.

N. Y. State is further north than Florida.

The first quarter ended with two men out and Jess Dollar making for home.

The second quarter was pitch and toss in the shadow of Lancaster's fullback. Elon showed fine form, especially P. D. Rudd, who was put in at first base to succeed Williams. Score at end of first half, nothing to zero.

The third quarter made 75c in favor of Lancaster. Rooting improved as Bral slid for second, gaining a dislocated ear for Elon. Ball passed to Lancaster on downs, who declared the next play a foul goal, and made a broad jump of 18 feet, 6 inches.

McAdams served to Perry, who fell over Fix, and the game stood at 15 love, neither side having scored.

The fourth quarter opened with Jennings on third and with Lancaster at bat. A forward pass to Farmer netted Elon seven feet and they encamped on Lancaster's 31-yard line.

Stone was thrown out at first, breaking the windshield of his coupe. In the beginning of the ninth Scholz bit E. C. White accidentally, and time was called out.

Brooks went around left end for a home run. Marlette kicked the

THIS WEEK'S POEM

By Sign'm Lion'm

The shadows fall, beloved,
 When the sun drifts down,
 Sweetheart
 And the collapsing of many shadows,
 Dear, will at last take us apart.

The little path that winds up o'er
 the hill
 Is still a path,
 And hand in hand we go the way
 together,
 Far up the little path.

Youth has left us here as one,
 But yet your smile is true,
 And you and I and the sweetest
 smile,
 Will trot the path where skies
 are blue.

There'll be a little lonesome mourning,
 As the last act is through,
 When the curtain falls on we embraced,
 As all fair curtains do.

BEANS

Our attention has been called to the fact that we have bowlegs. We have always had them and have never before given them attention.

Bowlegs are a mark of distinction. They set you apart. We think Napoleon had them. We know members of the senior class have them. Our own observation is that they are partners and yet don't go together.

Hereafter we expect for no one to call our attention to our bowlegs. If you must call my attention to the fact that my feet are wanding apart call me bean-legged, but don't say I have bowed legs.

WITH OUT THE DOUGH

Credit is the backbone of the Thesaurus of modern business. In the world of large we find credit paying for the heads of merchant dis-pibed on every what and shelf. The world would run back-wards without credit, and soon we would all be freshmen again.

From the Village comes the wad that we students are not using our credit properly. To add business one must be businesslike. Why a group of students ranging from sweet seventeen upward should not betake themselves to credit in the way the village believes in is more than we as editor can see.

Lean and lanky students needing the rejuvenation of a milk shake, the delicatessen aroma of a jit cigar, or the warming gloss of a bottle of shoe polish should no longer let those great needs seep their hearts and cause them to press their noses against the windows of the village shops in mel-ancholic longing.

While money does not weight down their pockets or vanity cases beyond the carrying point, still they have more purchasing power than did the fair Aladdin seated beneath the 60 watt lamp.

The magic word is a smile and credit. Stand no longer and long. Enter any store, buy, and tell them to charge it. It's the same old phrase the commanding general used as he made for the dust-out and as his troops followed his example, so will the village mer-chants.

Our merchants desire to credit you. They want to give you credit. Throw your money away and buy on credit.

 To the Faculty of Elon College
 Dear Gent:

What was my grade on Gyn in the spring of 762. I though I had made 97 but a guy nam d Brutus kicked me the other day and I doubt if my grade was so high.

Imperial Hospital-Rome.

No answer from the faculty has come to hand on Emperor's Dear Antony.

Was Olivia at the races yesterday? Had hoped to be there. In fact, I had a date, but the senate put me on probation for eating with my hat on. Purchasing was fine on the radio last night. Did you listen in?

CAESAR,
 These documents, bescribed by the chemistry of time, give Elon another brilliant alumna, Napo-lean, Gout Eaper, Mariette, and now Casar. Have lately been add-ressed to the nobles.

Prof. Cotten is now proving that Socrates was the eighty-sixth president of Elon.

LISTEN BILLY

Village of Elon, College of Elon,
 April, May, June, 1923.
 Dearest Bill:

In the middle of the night there is a time, yawled midnight, and the only way to tell when it is, is to hear the cocks crow twelve times.

Well last night I heard the old ticker go bang 12 x 1 and I knowed it was midnight and the idea came into my head and that was to tell you about gurls.

Gurls is fem's creators and as such is found in on in the hew-man race. They grows everywhere but more tough in the cities. They looks like boys while they is babies but later there mamms puts flowin robes on them called dresses and from then on they is wholly teaver.

They has round faces what they has saved over from the time they was babies and keep makin them over. These faces has eyes and them eyes rolls, and when they does Billy you is a goner. The best way to catch a gurl is to slip up behind her and put your hands over her eyes and say "Who was this?" More than is likely she will tell you quick for fun. Fireworks and gurls is able to look out after themselves.

Their clothes don't come reddy made but is put on in stiles and that what carries the husbands of today more than it did when Paris was't no suburb of the P. S. A. They figgers they must dress like so & so which is an idea they cribbed from their grand ad named Eve who lived in a garden and tried to look out-ber than the flowers and cabbages which also grew there.

There hair comes long and they has pins to hold it uppen the most frivolous curl-qs. Once the time they cut it so it looked bobbed but it got in boys mouths when they was bigger than so they let it grow long some more.

The sides of their faces and all of their noses is dusted with powder, like the same smells fine but taste like trash. They says it keeps their noses from shinin just like the mud keeps my shoes from shinin.

Some old guy what draws his salary instead of knocking it down has said "You can't live with 'em and you can't live without 'em". Now he hit the Tom goat twixt the eyes durst he no?

They has all kinds of names like Grayline and Jewlia. They disturbs the order of things for about twenty years and then gets married to some guy what cant say "No" no longer. From now on they cons-traints on one guy called a husband and he is very pitiful.

We heed one guy say som like that gurls was what kept us from gettin rough. I calls him a liar and he was a good runner and almost catches me. The fact I'm driving for is that every fact I've ever been in since I matriculated in the first grade P. S. * was about some girl or other. When they starts rollin their eyes at me I dont want no rollin in other's direction. Yes I fights. You know I does. Gurls is monkeys. Always grab some-body else. When one gurl sticks a ankle out they all grabs for the scizzors and pretty soon they is all vying one and another to see who can cut the most. Now I know I did'st not get in that fight.

They is a nuisance, but is good for two reasons. For wives and also to write about in poems.
 Yours Annually,
 D'UMBELL SMITH

HOWDY, BOYS!

By Hiawatha Benbow '52

Worried by the continualounding of our knock-kneed secretary and feeling my heart pounding with the memories of the old days when Elon was Elon and Volstead was a baby.

When I hit the hill, Columbus was still in the egg business in Genoa. Lloyd George still owned everything east of Ireland and H. Lee Scott was drawing up the plans for the old Hoosegow.

Never shall I forget the reception committee that greeted me as I hit the old (now abolished) landing field left of the C-Tick laboratory. In those days, as my colleagues, classmates, and creditors know, the Sophs did not wait for "Shades of Night" in warm freshmen. Each of the 400 Sophs gave me a lick apiece with a paddle that it took three of them to carry. For thirty years I never sat down without wondering where all the Sophs were.

Dr. Harper greeted me in a latin, Dr. Powell in a bathrobe. In those days the A. B. was the easiest degree and stood for Able Bodied.

One of my fondest recollections was to watch Chief Fuller picking hyacinths by the hour. To my mind Fuller calls up Hyacinths and we won most of the games Gamma, Phi which was the best old frat that ever put to sea as a social club.

I made the football team of '53 and we won most of the games that year. Little Strut Spingle, '53, was injured when Harvard's five-yd. line caught him under the chin. Spingle is now teammaster in the kitchen of the Empire State Laundry in N. Y. City. He says he can never think of Elon without thinking of the Mus-mal Swamp. Once you get in you can't leave.

Y'urs for Elon,

WHO AND WHERE

Fritz Mojack, '82, is porter on the elevator of Tabb's Dept. Store, Sandbag, Maine.

Cat Claus, '68, now resides in the Tucktight Apts., Ave. B. Chester, S. C.

Pattie Coghill, '23, is librarian at Blockhouse Seminary, Trohack, Long Island.

Warren McCulloch, '17, is hunting blind tigers in Poodlosa, Africa. With his last letter to the secretary he enclosed a sparrow feather—game killed by himself.

I. O. Houser, '42, is doing his bit as coroner at Junktrack, Florida. Mr. Houser reports better business than the local doctors.

Julius Caesar, B. C. '76, is still dead.

Professor Dumbell Smith, '26, has given up teaching for show life. He is now spieler with Bareback's circus.

Lola Link, former student, is touring Guilford County.

Nels Mathews, '62, was wedded to Eugene Rainey, '18, on Washington's Birthday.

Hiawatha Benbow, '52, is in the oyster business at Fallstaff, on the Arizona desert.

Herbert Scholz, '29, is acting with Edwin Booth in "Love's Bow Tie".

Invitations to a game of Jackstraws at the home of Markwood Zerkle Rhodes, '23, on May 2 at 7:30 p. m. have been received.

Jake Blake, '23, is acting as wooden Indian in front of Pink Peat's cigar store.

The secretary still gladly receives contributions for the column and for his pocket.

Professor: “Order! Order!!”

Student (just awakening): “I’ll take this one straight.”

Perry (calling signals): “A-42-76-E-2.”

Minnie Edge (Librarian): “Somebody has that out. Will this do just as well?”

* * *

Esther: “I am going to sue my English teacher for slander.”

Mary Nelle: “What for?”

Esther: “He wrote on my English theme: ‘You have bad relatives and antecedents.’”

* * *

Prof. Hook: “Whither are we rolling: First, the Stone Age; then the Bronze Age, Iron Age, Steam Age, and now—?”

Rhodes (thinking deeply): “Marriage!”

Fix (in grocery store): "What are those red berries?"

Hainer: "Cranberries! Why they make better apple sauce than stewed prunes!"

Prof. Kennett (on History IV-A): "What is a silent majority?"

Bray: "Er— I guess it is two men when there is a woman present."

Who Is Nobody Nohow?

On one summer day last winter,
When the nights were dense and light,
From my study I heard a silence,
And saw an aeroplane out of sight.

Then I fell asleep in slumber,
And had more downs than ups,
Quietly rested in pain and anguish,
As the dog-fennel whined for her pups.

I opened my mouth and saw no one,
As they lingered near the walk,
I heard them telling each other secrets,
As no one dared to talk.

Then they all separated together,
And each one went the other way,
As the light of morn was dawning,
And was nearing the close of day.

I combed my feet and ate a lunch,
Then bathed my weary head,
And ventured out through snow and ice,
To water the flower bed.

Long tags of ice were seen galore,
Suspended from the eaves,
And big dew drops were sparkling, too,
Upon the bright, green leaves.

I then realized there was something wrong,
For all had been amiss,
Investigating then I found,

As I was walking round the house,
I found the door was open,
And the lights were on,

"Jahn & Ollier Again"

ACHIEVEMENT

The goal of every ambitious man and firm is typified in the rapid growth of the Jahn & Ollier Engraving Company—the universal esteem in which their art and plates are held by the large national advertisers—and the enviable reputation for prompt deliveries which they enjoy.

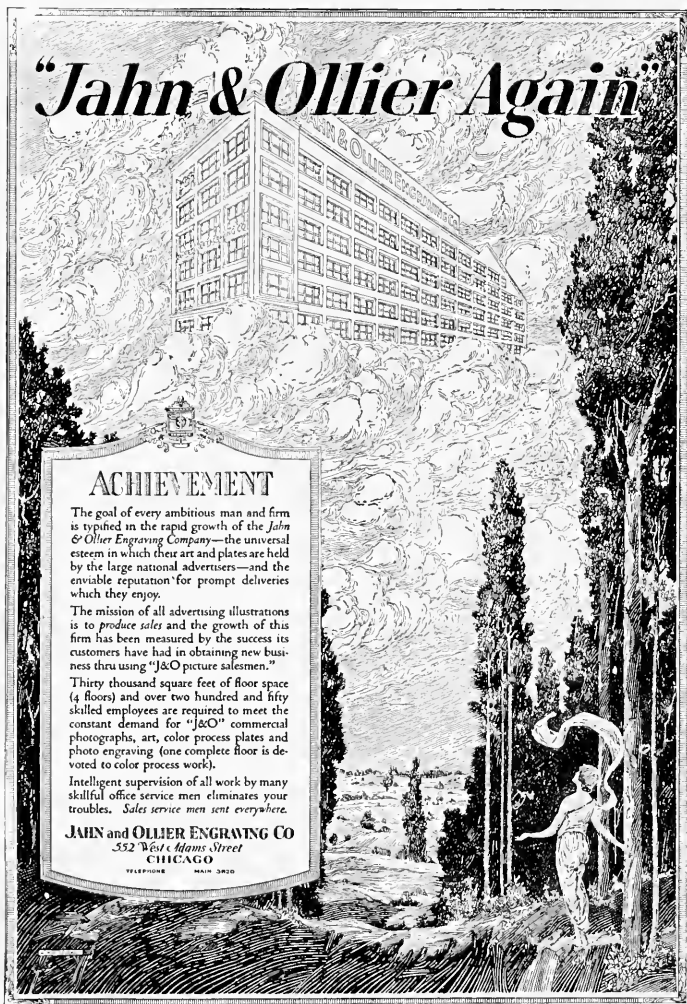

The mission of all advertising illustrations is to produce sales and the growth of this firm has been measured by the success its customers have had in obtaining new business thru using "J&O picture salesmen."

Thirty thousand square feet of floor space (4 floors) and over two hundred and fifty skilled employees are required to meet the constant demand for "J&O" commercial photographs, art, color process plates and photo engraving (one complete floor is devoted to color process work).

Intelligent supervision of all work by many skillful office service men eliminates your troubles. Sales service men sent everywhere.
